Canada to Buy Alaska Phone Line

Rays of the setting sun and a light whisper of breeze keep the proud flags of two great allies aflutter as they are lowered at day's end in a unique daily ceremony at headquarters of the Alaskan Wing of the Transport Command, U.S.A.A.F., in Edmonton. Under the orders of Brig.-Gen. Dale V. Gaffney, commanding general of the Alaskan Wing, and Col. Eugene Stevens, Jr., air base commander, ceremony of retreat on an international basis has been inaugurated. The ceremony takes place each evening at 5:15 o'clock to signal the end of a normal day's duty. Two flight formations, led by master sergeants, march to the front of headquarters and halt facing the colors, flying from twin poles. The duty officer stands somewhat to the rear and midway between the poles. A flag-lowering detail is at each pole. The bugler sounds "To the Colors" followed by "Retreat". Duty officer and flight leaders salute the colors as they are lowered. As the final notes of the bugle die away, the flag-folding ceremony takes place after which the formations are dismissed. First Lt. Gerard J. Bulger of Kew Gardens, Long Island, was duty officer in charge during the above ceremony.

All U.S. Airports in Dominion, Some Still Secret, Will Be Taken Over

By B. T. RICHARDSON
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, April 22.—Special financial controls on the exchange position between Canada and the United States were ended last night as Finance Minister J. L. Ilsley announced that Canada will buy all airfield installations constructed in Canada by the United States government and a telephone line to Alaska. Many of these airfields are still on the secret list.

Mr. Ilsley said a conference would be held soon with U.S. officials to agree on the value at which transfer will be made. Recently, in a similar move, the Canadian government purchased all U.S. airfield installations in northwest Canada at a reputed cost of $33,500,000 which was in addition to the original Canadian cost of $25,000,000.

The telephone line from Edmonton to Fairbanks is 1,997 miles in length, of which 1,700 miles are in Canada. This was built by the United States government, and the Canadian section will be bought by Canada.

SIX VOICE LINES

It provides six voice and 13 teletype communications and represents one of the key communications of the northwest. The probable price was not available from Canadian sources. But the total value of U.S. airfields and landing strips in Canada, and the Alaska telephone line, was believed to be worth upwards of $100,000,000, subject to final agreement. This was, however, only a rough guess.

This deal reflected the notable improvement in the Canadian holdings in U.S. exchange, which has led to cancellation of a special arrangement made early in 1943 that the two governments would maintain the Canadian exchange position between certain maximum and minimum limits. These limits were never revealed, since Canadian regulations forbid publica-

Saves U.S. Pilot Off Sumatra

British Sub Makes One of Most Dramatic Rescues of Entire War

By EUGENE BURNS

ABOARD AN AMERICAN CARRIER OFF SABANG, Sumatra, April 19.—(AP)—(Delayed)—Under the smoking guns of Japanese coastal batteries, a British submarine made one of the most dramatic rescues of the war today, picking up an American pilot, Lieut. Dale Christian (Klondike) Klahn, shot down in the Allied task force blow against Sabang and Lhonga.

Klahn's plane—the flier's home is at Laramie, Wyo.—was the only one downed by the Japanese during the smashing 15-minute raid.

Twelve hellcats spread an umbrella over the little yellow life raft and the rescuing submarine.

A Japanese destroyer which tried to close with the surfaced and comparatively slow-moving and unmaneuvreable submarine was stopped "dead in its tracks" by these Hellcats supervised by their

Stabilize Money

34 Countries Agree on Plan For Gold Fund

By DONALD KOVACIC

WASHINGTON, April 22. — (AP)—Treasury technicians of 34 countries announced last night their agreement on broad outlines for a proposed $8,000,000,000 gold-based stabilization fund designed to restore order to international finance and promote world prosperity.

Russia dramatically gave approval at the last minute. Word of Russian concurrence with the money experts of other United Nations was received only a short time before the agreement was made public here and in other Allied capitals.

Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau of the United States earlier had told newsmen the joint statement represented the views of all nations except Russia, although he added he was "very hopeful" of Russian adherence.

TO PROMOTE TRADE

The fund, it was explained, would use such methods as buying and selling gold and currencies to promote trade. It could provide one

Let Two Contracts On North Airports

Contracts for airport construction work at Fort Nelson and Watson Lake on the Northwest Staging Route of the R.C.A.F. have been let, with an Eastern Canada firm receiving one contract and the second going to a Vancouver firm, it was announced Saturday from the office of Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, C.M.G., D.S.O., E.D., special commissioner for Northwest defence projects.

Tomlinson Const. Co. of eastern Canada will do the improvement work at Fort Nelson, with General Construction Co. of Vacouver, receiving the contract for Watson Lake.

Contracts for work at Edmonton airport and Grande Prairie have not yet been awarded. A total of $5,000,000 is being spent on airport improvements in the northwest by the Canadian government.

Churchill, Canada Views Divergent

By B. T. RICHARDSON
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, April 22.—The speech of Prime Minister Churchill on Commonwealth relations disclosed marked differences between his views and the formal attitude adopted by the Canadian government, though at the same time considerable common ground exists.

The text of the speech much more than the Canadian Press summary showed fundamental disagreements with the views of Prime Minister Mackenzie King. Churchill has restated the theory of a post-war world dominated by huge power blocs. This theory was stated last January by Lord Halifax and at that time it drew a sharp repudiation from Mr. King. Mr. Churchill spoke of the British Commonwealth in terms of a federal system, which in the Canadian viewpoint has no basis in existing relationships among British nations, and he also spoke of the Dominions as a "vast bloc" and its relations as "a family council."

No other leader of a British nation is as strongly centralist as Churchill, and public opinion in none of the dominions is likely to accept the extreme views he has expressed for a consolidated commonwealth, in the belief of Ottawa sources. Observers noted the small attendance at the British debate.

Nazis Increase Shelling at Anzio

NAPLES, April 22.—(AP)—The Germans stepped up their shelling of the Anzio beachhead yesterday and also threw 37 planes into four raids against the harbor area as Allied patrols made forays on all fronts in Italy.

Beachhead anti-aircraft batteries downed five of the raiders and three more were sent crashing by Spitfires on patrol.

The Nazis introduced a short-lived new wrinkle on the Adriatic front where the Canadian Corps is operating. They erected a large notice board with a sign: "Britons, salute our Fuehrer." An 8th Army artillery "salute" demolished the sign.

Argentine Labor Delegate Denied Seat at I.L.O. Meet

PHILADELPHIA, April 22— (AP)—Labor delegates to the International Labor Conference, today denied a seat to Luis Girola, workers' delegate from Argentina, following a day and a half of heated debate over charges that Girola represented "a fascist regime."

Other delegates who attended the meeting said Girola announced immediately that "since this vote has been taken on political considerations, we will leave the conference."

England Defeats Scotland by 3-2

By ALLAN NICKLESON

LONDON, April 22.—(CP)—Britain's wartime sports boom reached a new attendance peak today when 133,000 persons jammed Glasgow's Hampden Park, where England nosed out Scotland 3-2 in an international soccer match, while an aggregate gathering of 105,000 at two league north semi-finals saw Blackpool and Aston Villa qualify for the final round.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, commander of the British group of armies in the forthcoming western invasion, and A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, were among the notables at the International, and "Monty" received a tremendous ovation when he met the players before the kick-off. Gen. Montgomery saw the previous match in London in February when England trimmed Scotland 6-2.

WITH ALLIED FLEET OFF SABANG, April 19.—(Delayed) —British, American, French and Dutch warships more than 25 strong sliced into the rim of Japan's stolen empire today and devastated Sabang with a carrier-borne aerial strike that was like swatting a mosquito with a baseball bat.

The United Nations forces, including a U.S. aircraft carrier, moved in under orders from Admiral Sir James F. Somerville to "catch them with their kimonos up" and from the air arm wing commander to "go in and flatten them."

PRAISED BY ADMIRAL

They carried out the assignment in a manner that caused Somerville to signal after it was over:

"Congratulations on a successful day. As far as I am concerned, this occasion is the first in which British and American naval air-craft formed a striking force. May it prove the first of many."

An American officer who cannot be identified replied, "Yours much

Two-Way Invasion Drive Expected

Moscow, Berlin Hint at Allied Assault Based on Teheran Plans

LONDON, April 22.—Moscow dispatches and Berlin broadcasts hinted broadly today that the invasion of western Europe might be co-ordinated with a full-scale Russian offensive in line with the pattern of concentric assault on Germany as laid out at the Teheran conference.

British United Press correspondent Harrison Salisbury reported a "feeling of anticipation of great events" in Moscow in connection with an expected Red army spring offensive.

His dispatch dealing with German counter-attacks in pre-war Poland said:

"With millions of Allied troops poised in the west and the Allied air offensive on the crescendo, German invasion jitters over the prospects of a co-ordinated attack as promised at Teheran reached a point where the comanders in such sectors as Stanislawow are pouring in men and machines in an effort to reduce two- and three-way pressure."

MOSCOW, April 22.—The Germans stepped up their counter-thrust against the Soviet flank southeast of Lwow today, throwing more and more armored and infantry reinforcements into an attempt to smash Russian preparations for a late spring drive into Czechoslovakia and central Poland.

Russian artillery and anti-tank guns staggered in depth southeast of Stanislawow, 70 miles below Lwow, continued to absorb the full force of the strongest German attacks since last fall, however, without yielding any ground.

More than 1,500 Germans were killed and 68 tanks wrecked in yesterday's abortive attacks, boosting the toll for the first four days of the Nazi counterthrust to at least 6,700 Nazi troops killed and 108 panzers destroyed.

QUIET AT SEVASTOPOL

The Red Army's siege of Sevastopol entered its fifth day with Soviet forces apparently re-grouping for a new assault on the strongly fortified naval base after their lightning liberation of all but the southwestern tip of the Crimea.

On the Estonian front, other Soviet planes bombed German shale oil factories at Kokhtila, 35 miles west of Narva, and Kurtnalager, 37 miles southwest of Narva. Numerous fires were started at both targets, with flames at Kurtnalager visible for nearly 40 miles.

Unbroken Parade

Bombers Strike Europe in Waves

By WALTER CRONKITE

LONDON, April 22.—Four big waves of Allied heavy, medium and light bombers swarmed over Europe today for the sixth straight day of a record assault by an estimated 15,000 planes in what is described as the first phase of the western front.

Hundreds of planes formed a virtually unbroken procession of R.A.F., Dominion and American aircraft across the Channel beginning at dawn, and all signs indicated that the daylight operations were on a large scale.

Coastal observers said the roar over the Straits of Dover was almost constant as bombers and fighters shuttled through the skies, among them were heavyweights flying so high they were not visible and could be identified only by the throb of their motors.

"Everywhere one looked it was planes, planes, planes," one southeast reporter said.

COLOGNE HIT AGAIN

Twin-engined R.A.F. Mosquitoes struck at Cologne, Germany's third city and one of the main railway bottlenecks east of the channel coast, before dawn today, bringing the tonnage dropped in the first five days of the greatest air offensive in history to well over the 17,000-mark.

Returning crews reported a "huge explosion" in the target area, indicating "something really big" had been hit.

The speedy plywood bombers were guided to their targets by the glow of fires still burning in Cologne's railway yards from a 1,700-ton British attack the previous night, when the R.A.F. dropped a record total of 5,040 tons of explosives on four of the principal railway centres supplying the invasion coast.

BUCHAREST BOMBED

Other R.A.F. planes laid "many mines" in enemy waters, the air ministry announced. All planes returned safely from the night's operations.

While British-based air armadas intensified their campaign to soften Western Europe for invasion, American heavy bombers from Italy continued to support the Russian army with attacks on railway yards in Bucharest and Turnu-Severin in Romania.

LONDON, April 22.—(AP)—Lt.-Gen. George S. Patton, American tank specialist, whose 7th Army helped in last summer's Allied conquest of Sicily, has arrived in Britain to take a place among Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's chief lieutenants for the invasion of Western Europe.

Striking Drivers Return to Work

LONDON, April 22. — (CP) — Union representatives early today told London transport officials that 2,200 striking bus drivers and conductors had voted to return to their jobs this morning.

Resumption of normal service on five trolley lines and 31 bus routes will clear the way for arbitration of grievances arising out of summer schedules adopted April 18. The workers complained the new schedules placed more work on them. Pay was not in dispute.

In Manchester, gas works strikers, in a stormy meeting, decided to remain out at least overnight and meet again tomorrow.

Weather Forecast Is Promising Here

Fair weather will continue over the week-end according to Edmonton weather officials. Yesterday maximum temperature was 59 degrees above zero, and the overnight low 32. Light hour frost was visible on the ground Saturday, but at 8:30 a.m. the temperature had risen to 39 degrees. Smoke hung over the city yesterday morning, and started again in the evening and continued through this morning. Official forecast is "partly cloudy this afternoon, clear tonight."

Police could advance no reason for the shooting.

TORONTO, April 22.—Germany will not be a pushover, and hard, bitter fighting will be required to bring about the defeat of the Nazis, Ralph W. Heinzen, veteran British United Press correspondent, told some 800 Victory Loan workers at a dinner here last night.

Heinzen asserted that there was little possibility of an internal collapse bringing Germany's downfall, as in 1918. He said Germany could be whipped, and must be whipped decisively if the United Nations were to achieve the peace for which they fought.

"We can 'whip her,'" he added, "only by landing on the continent and defeating the German army in battle."

Heinzen spent 13 months in an internment camp at Baden Baden and was allowed considerable freedom. He was able to mingle with the German citizens and discuss many aspects of the war with them. He was an officer in the American army intelligence branch in World forces would meet armed as never before in history and battles would rage with a fury never known in history."

Other possible signs of a concerted offensive were the reported inspection of Black Sea naval facilities by German Admiral Karl Doenitz and Nazi hints that they feared Italy would be used as a base for a major arm of the Allied striking forces.

The spate of invasion rumors and propaganda feelers included speculation by the Madrid newspaper Arriba that the Allies would land on the continent "Between 10 p.m. of the 22nd and 8 a.m. of the 30th," pointing out that Allied landings heretofore have been made "During the phase of the new moon."

EXPECTED BY MAY 1

A National Broadcasting company reporter in Stockholm said a prediction circulated widely there was that the invasion would come before May 1.

Salisbury said the feeling of anticipation of "great events" in Moscow was not communicated to the Russian people by the press and to the average Russian the western invasion "is going to come as a thunderous surprise."

"The Allied air offensive is reported routinely," his dispatch said. "The populace is not engaged in studying charts of the channel tides nor phases of the moon."

country with currency of another in exchange for its own currency or gold. It could also offer gold to a member country in exchange for its currency, if the country needed gold to maintain confidence in its money.

The agreement was considered here a United States victory over British proposals to relegate gold to a minor role in post-war currency stabilization.

Outgrowth of more than a year of planning and discussion the agreement replaces separate proposals advanced by Great Britain, Canada and the United States.

Despite British capitulation to American and Canadian views toward gold as a stabilization basis, both Mr. Morgenthau and Harry D. White, author of the American or so-called "White plan", emphasized that the present draft presents no single nation's plan.

CANADA'S CONTRIBUTION NOT YET DETERMINED

OTTAWA, April 22.—(CP)—Canada's contribution to a proposed $8,000,000,000 international monetary stabilization fund has not yet been determined, finance department officials said here last night.

Principles on which the fund may be established have been agreed upon by financial experts of the United Nations and were announced simultaneously last night in Ottawa, London, Washington and other United Nations capitals. The principles provide for what Canadian officials described as a "sketchy" quota system for contributions to the gold-based fund.

"Details of the quota system on which contributions will be based have purposely been left in abeyance and agreement has been reached on only the most general terms," said a spokesman.

The plan on which agreement has been reached by the experts is a composite of proposals advanced by a number of countries with those of the United Kingdom, United States and Canada forming the basis.

The Canadian proposal provided for subscription by the participating nations totalling $8,000,000,000—the sum on which agreement was reached.

2,000 Canadians On Big Attacks

By CHARLES BRUCE

LONDON, April 22. — (CP) — Canadian participation in recent R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. 1,000-bomber raids was on the basis of two men to every big bomber, Canada's high commissioner to the United Kingdom, Vincent Massey, disclosed to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Great Britain yesterday.

While Britons learned of Thursday night's record R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. smash that dumped more than 5,000 tons of bombs on Cologne and other targets in Germany, Mr. Massey told the organization's annual luncheon "more than 2,000 individual Canadians have flown on each of the recent 1,000-bomber raids." He added one-quarter of the men flying aircraft from Britain and the Mediterranean were Canadian.

Reich Won't Be Pushover Says Writer

NAZIS WON'T STARVE

There is no spectre of starvation facing the German people at present as there was in 1918, he said. There is white bread, potatoes, pies, cakes and even pretzels and beer. Germany will eat whether the rest of the continent eats or not, he said, warning that Europe was dangerously near starvation.

Heinzen said there was defeatism in Germany, but there was also a cure for it — Himmler's Gestapo and the Storm Troopers. During a six-week period from mid-October to the end of November, he said, the German press was allowed to print a whole series of official reports of the execution of defeatists.

The speaker termed the Storm Troopers the dominating force in Germany today. They are firmly loyal to Hitler and will protect him even against the army, he said, adding that contrary to prevailing belief there was no underground army in the Reich. There was a Communist underground in the early days of the Nazis but that disappeared, he noted.

NO FREE GERMANS

Heinzen compared Germany with a gigantic concentration camp. There are no free Germans, and everything is regimented, he said. No one is free to quit a job and look for different work. Everyone is a unit and must keep on doing the work required of him without protest or excuse, and the storm troopers are always behind him to see that he does it.

It cannot be denied, Heinzen said, that most Germans are fed up with the war and would like peace. They are wholly inarticulate, however, and regardless of how much they would like peace, they have absolutely no force or means of expression.

The Allies have mastery of the skies over Germany, and the first air raids had a great deal of effect on the German morale, the BUP man said, but added that now the Germans are taking the raids as a matter of course. He told of American Flying Fortresses flying over his head for an hour and a minutes, flying in perfect formation, with but one German plane in the sky and it racing away.

2 GREAT WEAKNESSES

Germany has two great weaknesses—manpower and oil—and of the two, manpower is perhaps the greatest, the most acute, he said.

Hitler passed the peak of his potential in 1943, Heinzen estimated, and cannot hope to keep pace with the Allies ever again.

Germany cannot replace her army casualties at their present rate, Heinzen said, and young boys, some of whom are not 16, have been called to the army.

appreciated. Also hope this is beginning of similar joint operations."

The attack on the Japanese outpost at the tip of Sumatra on the road to Singapore may have been aimed at enticing the enemy fleet into combat. But it did not stir.

Two striking forces threw their aerial weight at Sabang and the Lho Nga base across the Straits on the Sumatra mainland from two directions.

WIDESPREAD DAMAGE

Caught flat-footed, the Japanese opened their anti-aircraft barrage late. The Allied planes, meanwhile, were swarming in to knock out the Sabang Radar station, smash a power plant, coaling wharf barracks and radio station, rake two ships in the harbor with gunfire and set fire to two destroyers.

Fifteen parked planes were wrecked, and three destroyed at another field. (Altogether 22 Japanese planes were destroyed, an earlier communique reported.) Bombed fuel tanks caught fire and smoke rose 7,000 feet.

The task force of battleships, cruisers, destroyers and carriers sailed from Ceylon Sunday. The destination was secret. The next day it zig-zagged through the Bay of Bengal in open battle formation, with Catalinas constantly on watch overhead. On Tuesday a carrier commander said:

"With luck Wednesday will be the day we have been waiting for for some time."

"TARGET IS SABANG"

That same day Somerville set the mood for the dramatic strike with a peremptory statement signalled to the fleet:

"The target for our Allied aircraft tomorrow is Sabang. Thus far we do not appear to have been spotted, and as the Japs have regular habits I hope to catch them with their kimonos up. Once our presence is known we must expect attack, and we must give a good account of ourselves."

Carrier crewmen were at battle stations throughout the night. The flight deck was on watch before dawn. The planes began revving up for the first strike scheduled at 7 a.m. With a mighty roar, planes manned by British, Canadian, New Zealand and American flyers hurtled off the decks of the carriers into a moderate wind as the ships rolled in a long swell.

ATTACK AT DAWN

Against a glowing tropical sunrise the squadrons of Barracudas, Dauntless dive bombers, Avengers, Corsairs and Hellcats were silhouetted in the distance.

The first wave of bombers swooped down on the tiny target, dumped their explosives from low level and roared away. The time was 6:58—two minutes before the appointed hour.

By 7 o'clock swarms of warplanes were rolling over Sabang in a continuous procession, dropping load after load on the jungle isle.

At the same time the carrier captain said tersely:

"We have just heard that the strike is dead on time. That's all."

The fleet wheeled in broad circles under a tight umbrella of fighter planes. Then the Barracudas began returning. As they wheeled to a stop on the decks the grinning crewmen clambered out to report a successful venture.

ONE PLANE LOST

Within an hour all British aircraft returned undamaged, except for one Barracuda which was punctured by a shell burst.

Only one plane was lost, and of that incident an American carrier signal said:

Hats off to the British submarine which proceeded to a point two miles off shore and rescued one of our pilots under the fire of shore batteries."

Japs Encircling Rail Junction

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, April 22.—(AP)—The Japanese, using a force of between 50,000 and 60,000 men, are swiftly encircling the north Honan railway junction of Chenghsien, Chinese advices stated last night. British and American embassies were disclosed to have ordered their nationals to flee from the path of the enemy's gathering offensive.

The town of Chenhksien itself seemed likely to fall before the Japanese drive, said by the Chinese to be aimed at closing the 160-mile Chinese-held section of the Peiping-Hankow railway and, it was suggested by foreign observers yesterday, perhaps at capturing the great Honan wheat crop now ripening in the fields.

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—Attorney Edward V. Broderick was sentenced to 30 days in city prison yesterday on a contempt of court charge resulting from his conduct at the start of Wayne Lonergan's murder trial.

Judge Freschi granted a 30-day stay, however, to permit Broderick to appeal the decision and sentence, or request a review.

Churchill Prefers "Mother Country" To Describe U.K.

LONDON, April 22—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill prefers the term "Mother Country."

He asked leave to use it yesterday while speaking during the Empire debate, contending "it would be dangerous to depart out in new nomenclature." For instance he thought substituting the "Mother Country" with "The Elder Sister Country" would not meet with success.

An old song of his youth, the prime minister said, was "A Boy's Best Friend is His Mother." And that, he suggested "seems to be worth sometimes humming again."

Royal Navy Sub Rescues Pilot Under Shellfire

RISK ENTIRE CREW

For one solitary pilot, the Royal Navy submarine risked its entire personnel, closing within pointblank range of a coastal gun, while 12 fighter pilots risked their necks for 90 minutes to dive upon the Japanese, strafe the Japanese destroyer and explode aircraft warming up on a nearby field. When the fighters ran out of ammunition they simply made threatening runs.

The fighters remained, said one pilot, Lieut. Earl B. Crawford, Stamford, Tex., "until Klondike waved his hand and disappeared into the sub while six-inch shells boiled the water around the crash-diving submarine."

Four planes had been assigned to cover the vulnerable submarine, which was proceeding surfaced to make maximum speed. Four guarded Klondike and four pinned down the Japanese air force and harassed coastal guns.

As the submarine closed on the airman's raft a Jap destroyer swung out of the smoke-filled harbor and four fighter planes swooped down.

DESTROYER BURNS

They fired on the destroyer and left it dead in the water, burning.

"As Klahn jumped out of his life raft and started swimming for the submarine the coastal guns started again," Air Group Commander Joseph C. Clifton of Paducah, Ky., said.

"Fortunately two British lads started swimming for Klondike. They attached lines to him and they dragged him back in record time through nearby six-inch splashes.

"Klahn climbed into the sub. It had no more than buttoned up and blown its tanks for a dive and was crashdiving when the Jap battery fired the last salvo. One shell fell within 15 feet."

Apparently no damage was done because the submarine later relayed a message that all hands were well and added:

"At 7 tonight (12 hours after the attack) the fires in Sabang are still burning."

Summing up what the American men feel about the submarine rescue, Capt. John Cassady, of Spencer, Ind., flashed a message to Admiral Somerville saying "we take our hats off to the submarine."

Torpedo, Robot Tank

Two Nazi Secret Weapons Fall Into Hands of Allies Coming Here

By DANIEL DE LUCE

THE FIFTH ARMY BEACHHEAD AT ANZIO, April 22.—(AP)—Two of Germany's secret weapons—a "human torpedo" and a robot tank called the "death wagon"—fell into Allied hands yesterday.

The "human torpedo" ran ashore just north of the Anzio beach and two American soldiers lifted out of it a 17-year-old German marine who explained he had "run out of gas."

After a week of hazardous night work in no-man's land British engineers gleefully hauled into their lines with a winch a wrecked robot tank called the "death wagon" or the Goliath tank, which they discovered could be operated by a remote radio control.

By coincidence the first known German use of the "human torpedo" came in the same week that the Royal Navy announced in London that it has used a similar contrivance to raid Palermo harbor 15 months ago when a new Italian cruiser was sunk and a large transport destroyed.

The skinny young sailor had set out on the seeming suicide mission from a motor torpedo boat. His craft consisted of a conventional torpedo about 12 feet long attached beneath a similarly shaped steel case. He rose in the top compartment and looked out through an air-light glass cover.

His strategy was to spot Allied shipping in Anzio harbor, fire his torpedo, then make a getaway in the upper compartment which was a virtual one-man submarine.

Howe Pressed For Statement On Air Parley

OTTAWA, April 22.—(CP)—John Diefenbaker (P.C.-Lake Centre) said last night in the Commons Munitions Minister Howe should state whether Canada favored or opposed a joint empire civil aviation air policy at a recent conference at London.

"You want the details of a private international conversation," said Mr. Howe.

Mr. Diefenbaker said it appeared Canada had taken the position of supporting an international air organization even before the London conference.

QUESTIONS STAND

"I now ask was Canada at this conference definitely opposed to an empire set-up?" said Mr. Diefenbaker.

"My honorable friend is building up the greatest piece of nonsense I have ever heard of," said Mr. Howe.

"That's the language he uses—he speaks of grousers and yappers when we want answers," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

"The matter was important to the future of the empire.

"Are we getting to the stage where we feel it is not proper to express pride in the empire?" he asked.

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative house leader, said also that Mr. Howe should give information about the conference.

Mr. Howe said those attending a conference agreed on the statement to be issued concerning it and he could not break confidence.

He said he wished the Progressive Conservatives' "extra mural leader" was in the house so he would be familiar with conference procedure.

REFERRING TO BRACKEN

(Presumably he was referring to John Bracken, Progressive Conservative national leader).

Hon. Grote Stirling (P.C.-Yale) said a "responsible newspaper" in the United States had said Canada's position differed from that of other empire countries at the conference. There should be some statement from the minister on the Canadian position.

Mr. Howe said the official statement issued after the conference indicated the newspaper report could not be correct.

"The New York Times was not represented at the conference, and we had better take the statement issued by the conference," he said.

Rev. E. G. Hansell (S.C.-Macleod) said he understood if Mr. Howe believed in freedom under the British flag, for if he did he might be called an imperialist.

"Is the minister an adherent of the King of England?" he asked.

Deputy Speaker Bradette, chairman of the house committee, said he must rule against the name of the king being brought into the debate.

BELIEVES HOWE LOYAL

Mr. Hansell said he believed Mr. Howe was loyal, but he did not relish the minister "flinging" some term to "discredit" Social Crediters when "we are only trying to be loyal to some great principles."

Mr. Hansell said he could not see the reason for the haste in "signing up" international air agreements and "it seems to me someone wants to get in on the ground floor . . . what difference would it make if this air agreement were deferred?"

Mr. Howe replied there would be an "awkward situation" at the end of the war if no international agreement on civil aviation were reached as British, United States and Canadian planes were operating on wartime routes over territories with which there was no peacetime operation agreements.

"There is some suggestion that agreements have been signed, but we are a long way from that stage," he said.

Jottings From Parliament

OTTAWA, April 22—(CP)—Rev. E. G. Hansell (S.C., Macleod) in the commons yesterday withdrew his remark that another member was "not a gentleman" after Speaker J. A. Glen insisted.

Mr. Hansell began by saying that if Stanley Knowles (C.C.F.-Winnipeg North Centre) "is a gentleman" he would withdraw a comment made Thursday night after Munitions Minister Howe said he had been attacked by Social Credit members in a debate on civil aviation to be their party's foreign policy. Mr. Knowles made the remark "international anarchy."

Mr. Knowles said that "in making that remark I was simply expressing my view as to what was involved in the kind of policy which the honorable members were expounding."

Mr. Hansell: "The honorable gentleman still is not a gentleman." Speaker Glen then asked him to withdraw.

Defence Minister Ralston told Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative house leader, the government was arranging to pay for telegrams from returning servicemen informing their families throughout Canada that they had arrived back and were heading for home.

A. W. Neill (Ind.-Comox-Alberni) said a proposed rule to limit further those entitled to use the parliamentary restaurant was "the most colossal piece of snobbery I have ever seen in print."

(Thursday, a notice was issued in the parliament buildings saying senators and house members might continue to take their wives, members of their families and family guests to the restaurant, but deputy ministers, private secretaries and press gallery members could use the restaurant privileges for themselves alone, without bringing their wives, dependents or friends.)

Postmaster General Mulock announced that the Munitions Minister office has agreed to allow the special postage rate of 12 cents a pound applicable to parcels sent to the Canadian armed forces to apply on parcels addressed to Canadian Red Cross personnel at a Canadian military address in the United Kingdom.

He also announced the opening of the five-pound limit to 11 pounds on parcels for members of the Canadian Red Cross addressed:

3 Burlington Gardens,
London W.1., England.

Civilian Postage rates will apply on parcels to that address.

Relief Bill Ratified

King to Leave "Shortly" For Meeting of Premiers, Ralston Will Lead Govt.

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, April 22.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the Commons yesterday he expects to leave "shortly" to attend the meeting in London of Empire prime ministers.

The prime minister spoke after Finance Minister Ilsley announced that special financial arrangements under the Hyde Park declaration have been ended, but the declaration of principle of close collaboration in war production between Canada and the United States will be continued.

Under the agreement which followed the declaration, signed April 20, 1941, the resources of Canada and the United States were to be co-ordinated so each country could provide what it was best able to produce and produce quickly.)

RALSTON TO ACT

Mr. King said that while he is in London, Defence Minister Ralston will act as prime minister. Resources Minister Crerar will act as deputy leader of the house and president of the council. He will also preside at meeting of the war committee. Justice Minister St. Laurent will act as secretary of state for external affairs.

The house disposed of the bill ratifying the Canadian participation in the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration and gave third reading to and passed a bill fixing the salary of an extra judge who is to be added to the exchequer court.

At the evening sitting the house approved estimates of $1,425,760 under the War Appropriation Bill for transport department air services' undertakings.

Progressive Conservative members asked Munitions Minister Howe to say whether Canadian support of an international air authority rather than an empire air plan had been decided on prior to a recent empire air conference in London. Mr. Howe said he could not give information on a private meeting at which the statement to be issued had been approved by those concerned.

During discussion of the judge's bill, Mr. St. Laurent said the provinces at the forthcoming Dominion-provincial conference will be asked to agree to an amendment to the British North America act, which would allow the federal government to fix the ages of retirement for Superior court judges. At present, the federal government can only fix retirement ages for judges in courts over which the province have certain jurisdiction.

GRAYDON PROTESTS

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative house leader, said he wished to protest against the government's action in signing the U.N.R.R.A. agreement before it was submitted to parliament. Possibly Canada would not be in a position to fulfill all she had agreed to.

Mr. Crerar said he did not interpret anything in the agreement as a commitment that would bind "this government or any other government to any fantastic or impossible proposition."

Mr. Graydon said food "is one thing for which we have not planned very well in war," and added:

"This country must solve the inevitable problem, and that is why I think we must have a food policy and a food plan, not only for the remainder of the war, but for those days envisaged and contemplated by the agreement in question."

SUBSTANTIAL SHIPMENTS

Mr. Crerar said bacon, cheese, beef and other products were being shipped to Britain in "substantial" quantities. This was not the result of any "haphazard plan" or lack of plan.

Before second reading was given the judge's bill, A. H. Bence (P.C.—Saskatoon) and Stanley Knowles (C.C.F.-Winnipeg North Centre) urged that the salaries of Canadian judges be increased and that provision be made to grant pensions to the widows or other dependents of judges. They also urged that the British North America act be revised to permit the federal government to set the retirement ages for judges in provincial superior courts.

Mr. St. Laurent said that such an amendment to the B.N.A. act was to have been discussed at the Dominion - provincial conference in 1941, but the conference broke up before the matter was broached.

Mr. Knowles said the retirement age of judges in courts under federal jurisdiction should be lowered from 75 to 70 years.

CANCEL SOME CONTRACTS

Mr. Ilsley said that Canadian and United States exchange holdings are such that United States permanent improvements to airfields in Canada now can be paid for and some of the United States war contracts in Canada will be cancelled.

Finance department officials said the statement could not be taken as meaning there would be early sales taxation in foreign exchange restrictions, such as those limiting Canadians may take to the United States.

Australian Daily Newspapers Drop Censorship Case

SYDNEY, April 22.—(CP)—Six Australian daily newspapers, suspended by government censors, yesterday agreed to drop injunction proceedings against the censorship office because they have succeeded in publishing the article which started the controversy.

A crown high court last Monday enjoined the censors from suspending publication of the newspapers for printing articles which criticized censorship policy.

On yesterday's court hearing, the newspapers agreed to allow the injunction to lapse, now that they had published the articles, but left pending their proposed court action to test legality of censorship regulations. No date has been set for a hearing on this question.

Prominent Farmer Named Candidate

CALGARY, April 22—(CP)—H. L. Taggart, prominent farmer and stock grower of the Olds district, was the choice of a Progressive Conservative nominating convention at Innisfail Thursday afternoon. Mr. Taggart, who will contest the Red Deer Federal riding, was nominated by George Hammer of Olds, seconded by R. J. McGuire of Red Deer.

Distribution Big Problem Says Premier

CALGARY, April 22—(CP)—Biggest post-war problem which will face both Alberta and the dominion is distribution, Premier Ernest C. Manning told a meeting of the Calgary Board of Trade yesterday. Unless there was a change from the economic principles that had caused want and distress before the war it was useless to anticipate an era of prosperity after the war, Mr. Manning warned.

Alberta would have many more trained technicians available after the war, he continued, Alberta also had great material resources. A combination of the two could provide abundance for all. The third and most important factor was buying power.

INCOME INADEQUATE

The national income had never been sufficient to buy the whole output of industry. Consumption was regulated not by the country's productive capacity, but by financial restrictions.

It was doubtful if methods of financing in wartime could be continued in peace as there was a limit to the accumulation of debt. If present "man-made restrictions" on finances were not removed there was "a ghost of a chance" of the many excellent post-war plans being implemented.

Touching on the coming Dominion-provincial conference, the Premier said there were three vital issues which should be discussed. First was a clear understanding of the allocation of authority and responsibility for post-war economy as between dominion and provinces. Second, a basis for co-operative action must be found and, third, a definite understanding of how it was proposed to finance the post-war program nationally and provincially.

Canada to Buy U.S. Airfields, Telephone Line

tion of the exchange position in time of war.

The arrangement was simply that if Canadian holdings of U.S. exchange went above the limit, the Canadian government would take steps to reduce it. One of these was to purchase U.S. airport installations in Canada. If the Canadian supply of exchange went below the minimum, the U.S. government placed more war orders in Canada.

HYDE PARK AGREEMENT

This arrangement was based on the so-called Hyde Park agreement of April 20, 1941, in which President Roosevelt and Prime Minister King agreed that each country, in mobilizing for war, should co-ordinate production programs rather than seek self-sufficiency in war production separately. Mr. Ilsley emphasized last night that the Hyde Park agreeemnt has not been cancelled, though the special 1943 arrangement under it has ended.

As a customer of the United States, Canada purchased $1,424,000,000 worth of U.S. goods in 1943, making this country easily the major cash customer of the United States. More than half of Canadian exports of U.S. goods last year were war supplies.

The Hyde Park agreement was the chief agency in the form of mutual assistance, by which Canada avoided becoming a customer for U.S. lend lease in 1941. While lend lease aided countries requiring U.S. war supplies to obtain them despite inability to pay in U.S. dollars, the Hyde Park agreement permitted Canadian-American wartime trade to expand phenomenally on a reciprocal basis.

CONTINUED PURCHASES

As Mr. Ilsley said it enabled Canada "to continue to make her enormous purchases of war supplies of other goods in the United States." He added: "We never wished to ask the United States for lend-lease aid, but we have always felt that as a nation in a favored position, free from the ravages of war we were in duty bound to stand on own own feet and indeed to share with the United States in assisting other less fortunate of our allies in carrying on the war against the common enemy.

"We said that we have been able to maintain, and we shall continue to do so."

He said that as the United States increased its purchases in Canada, this country had given full value in vital munitions.

Moving scenes were enacted at the C.P.R. station this week when a party of 12 Canadian Army personnel arrived back from service overseas. Included in the group were seven members fo The Loyal Edmonton Regiment, six of whom had been seriously wounded in the heavy fighting in Sicily and Italy. A majority were in the grim struggle for Ortona in which The Loyal Edmonton Regiment suffered heavy losses before capturing the Nazi stronghold. At left above is Cpl. James Craig of Gadsby, member of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment, wounded in the chest and stomach at St. Vito. He is holding his four-year-old daughter, Elaine, who he saw for the first time. His wife is on the right. Cpl. Craig is one of six brothers serving with the Canadian forces. Two are still with The Loyal Edmonton Regiment in Italy, one is in the Canadian Engineers and two are with the R.C.A.F. In the scene on the right is Pte. Cyril George Chapman, 10348 104 street, with his wife, Mrs. Chapman. Pte. Chapman is also a member of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment and was wounded by machine-gun bullets at Ortona. Both soldiers went overseas with The Loyal Edmonton Regiment in 1939.

Regulations forbid individuals sending newspapers overseas. The Edmonton Bulletin prints the news of the week in letter form. Clip it out and send it to your loved ones and friends.

Dear

Our big news this week is another fire in the city's downtown section. The Moser and Ryder building, on the east side of 101 street, near 102 avenue, was burned out early Tuesday morning with estimates of loss running up to $200,000.

About 40 persons fled before the flames in night attire, some of whom had been rescued by firemen from upper windows of the five-storey block. Two persons were sent to hospital for treatment of burns received in the blaze. The fire burned for more than four hours, before 84 firemen brought it under control.

The opening event of the Sixth Victory Loan campaign takes place on Monday night next, when a huge parade is to be held in the downtown section of the city. It promises to be the next biggest parade we will ever stage here. The biggest, of course, is reserved for the day when you soldiermen come marching down Jasper avenue when the war is past and won!

April 17

About 40 persons clad in night attire fled before flames which badly damaged the Moser and Ryder block, 101 street, in a general alarm fire which broke out about 2:56 a.m. Monday, causing damage which it is estimated will run as high as $200,000. Two persons of several injured were taken to hospital.

With a warm glowing tan acquired from a tropical sun, and a smile worth a million, AB. Douglas Robb, R.C.N.V.R., sat within the coziness of his parents home at 11305 97 street and told of his five years' experience at sea. Twenty-eight building permits totalling $87,270 in value, were issued during the last four days by the city architect's office.

April 20

A resolution designating specified agents to act in conjunction with Commissioner John Hodgson and B. C. Ayles, city auditor, in connection with refinancing plans now under discussion, was passed at a special meeting of the city council Wednesday afternoon. Senior governments cannot disassociate themselves from the responsibility for the housing of residents in Alberta; it is equally their responsibility with the municipalities, Mayor John W. Fry stated Thursday.

Just as soon as an agreement has been received from the dominion government covering the use of army doctors for rural areas where no practitioners are available, negotiations will be entered into with the municipalities concerned for placing the doctors where they are needed.

Said to have been thrown over the seat of a buggy in which he was riding, when a team of horses bolted, John Middlestead of Zion, in the Westlock district, received injuries to his spine from which he died.

City moving and transfer firms anticipate that the rush for moving orders which usually come in heavily around April 15 will become increasingly heavier up through the last day of the month. "Which is the biggest moving day of the year," a survey of moving and transfer firms indicated. Former police sergeant on the Edmonton city police force, one-time member of the Toronto city police, and a veteran of the First Great War, Edward M. Watson, 68 years old, is dead. People are demanding compulsory health insurance and no government will last if it ignores such demands, Dr. M. Harry Garvin, Winnipeg, editor of the Canadian Dental Journal, told a gathering of about 45 dentists here.

April 21

The C.C.F. will contest every legislative and parliamentary seat in the province at the next general election, it was announced by Elmer E. Roper, M.L.A. provincial leader.

F. J. Reynolds, former general manager of the Edmonton City Dairy is leaving for Ottawa with his wife and two daughters.

Seventeen of the 20 appeals made by workers who were referred to packing plants by employment officials have been allowed by the appeal board, the grounds being that the workers were highly skilled tradesmen. After 33 years of practicing dentistry in his office in the Macleod Building, Dr. C. A. Raver of 10636 123 street is carrying on as usual, his 75th birthday.

April 22

Weather promises to be fair over the week-end. Officials in charge of the Victory Loan hope it will be, as the loan will be officially set in motion with a drumhead service at Borden Park. On Monday night the grand parade of the armed forces, including United States troops will be held through city streets.

That's all for now.

Best of everything until next week.

Dear

Our big news this week is another fire in the city's downtown section. The Moser and Ryder building, on the east side of 101 street, near 102 avenue, was burned out early Tuesday morning with estimates of loss running up to $200,000.

About 40 persons fled before the flames in night attire, some of whom had been rescued by firemen from upper windows of the five-storey block. Two persons were sent to hospital for treatment of burns received in the blaze. The fire burned for more than four hours, before 84 firemen brought it under control.

The opening event of the Sixth Victory Loan campaign takes place on Monday night next, when a huge parade is to be held in the downtown section of the city. It promises to be the next biggest parade we will ever stage here. The biggest, of course, is reserved for the day when you soldiermen come marching down Jasper avenue when the war is past and won!

April 17

About 40 persons clad in night attire fled before flames which badly damaged the Moser and Ryder block, 101 street, in a general alarm fire which broke out about 2:56 a.m. Monday, causing damage which it is estimated will run as high as $200,000. Two persons of several injured were taken to hospital.

With a warm glowing tan acquired from a tropical sun, and a smile worth a million, AB. Douglas Robb, R.C.N.V.R., sat within the coziness of his parents home at 11305 97 street and told of his five years' experience at sea. Twenty-eight building permits totalling $87,270 in value, were issued during the last four days by the city architect's office.

April 20

A resolution designating specified agents to act in conjunction with Commissioner John Hodgson and B. C. Ayles, city auditor, in connection with refinancing plans now under discussion, was passed at a special meeting of the city council Wednesday afternoon. Senior governments cannot disassociate themselves from the responsibility for the housing of residents in Alberta; it is equally their responsibility with the municipalities, Mayor John W. Fry stated Thursday.

Just as soon as an agreement has been received from the dominion government covering the use of army doctors for rural areas where no practitioners are available, negotiations will be entered into with the municipalities concerned for placing the doctors where they are needed.

Said to have been thrown over the seat of a buggy in which he was riding, when a team of horses bolted, John Middlestead of Zion, in the Westlock district, received injuries to his spine from which he died.

City moving and transfer firms anticipate that the rush for moving orders which usually come in heavily around April 15 will become increasingly heavier up through the last day of the month. "Which is the biggest moving day of the year," a survey of moving and transfer firms indicated. Former police sergeant on the Edmonton city police force, one-time member of the Toronto city police, and a veteran of the First Great War, Edward M. Watson, 68 years old, is dead. People are demanding compulsory health insurance and no government will last if it ignores such demands, Dr. M. Harry Garvin, Winnipeg, editor of the Canadian Dental Journal, told a gathering of about 45 dentists here.

April 21

The C.C.F. will contest every legislative and parliamentary seat in the province at the next general election, it was announced by Elmer E. Roper, M.L.A. provincial leader.

F. J. Reynolds, former general manager of the Edmonton City Dairy is leaving for Ottawa with his wife and two daughters.

Seventeen of the 20 appeals made by workers who were referred to packing plants by employment officials have been allowed by the appeal board, the grounds being that the workers were highly skilled tradesmen. After 33 years of practicing dentistry in his office in the Macleod Building, Dr. C. A. Raver of 10636 123 street is carrying on as usual, his 75th birthday.

April 22

Weather promises to be fair over the week-end. Officials in charge of the Victory Loan hope it will be, as the loan will be officially set in motion with a drumhead service at Borden Park. On Monday night the grand parade of the armed forces, including United States troops will be held through city streets.

That's all for now.

Best of everything until next week.

Low Interest Rates!

The Hon. J. L. Ilsley, minister of finance, speaking at Windsor, Ontario, has stated plainly that under the Dominion Government's new policy of low interest rates, Victory Bonds would never sell for less than par in the future.

The sounds practised on patriotic Canadians by financial institutions after the last war will never again be repeated, Mr. Ilsley assures us.

It is both refreshing and encouraging to see Mr. Ilsley at long last taking a definite stand on interest rates and offering a positive assurance that the Government can and will maintain low interest rates in Canada. The Government always did have the sovereign power to issue currency and credit. But because it failed to exercise this right, Canadians have been robbed and swindled without mercy.

The Bank of Canada has fixed its discount rate at 1½ per cent and pledged this rate for the present and future. The result should be that ruinous rates, charged on private and public debt, will never again be allowed in Canada.

The City of Edmonton is now refunding its debt of $24,000,000 at 3½ per cent as against the old rates of 4 to 6 per cent. This will represent a yearly saving for Edmonton taxpayers of hundreds of thousands of dollars in interest charges.

Premier Manning of Alberta has announced that his Government is anxious to refund Alberta's net debt of $120,000,000 on fair and reasonable terms. But he has flatly rejected the bondholders' committee's proposals of a 4 per cent rate. The bondholders' committee would be well advised to revise its proposals in the light of Mr. Ilsley's statement if the bondholders do represents hope to reach a settlement with the Government of Alberta.

For the ruinous and intolerable interest rates charged the people of Alberta were never justified. They never would have been imposed or collected had it not been for the utter failure of the Dominion Government to exercise its sovereign power of regulating interest rates for the benefit of all Canadians.

Mr. Ilsley's statement, then, casts an entirely new light on the entire interest rate structure of Canada.

How Much Wheat?

Another wheat crop is being sown across the prairies. Under generally favorable weather conditions, so far as reports indicate. The west appears to be fortunate in this respect, in comparison with the eastern provinces. Cold weather was prevailing in Ontario at least up to the end of last week, a veritable blizzard having struck Toronto on Tuesday and Wednesday, while the month has brought uniformly mild days to most of the prairie region. Moisture conditions over a good part of this province are less favorable than could be desired, because of light snow-fall during the winter, but that is a handicap from which crops can make full recovery if the mid-summer rainy season lives up to its name.

This year, the first time in several seasons, the farmer is not being bonused to cut down wheat acreage, nor officially urged to do so. He is left to exercise his judgment in the light of fairly well known changes in the situation and outlook. Wheat has moved out of the country more rapidly than for some years and the surplus in storage has diminished accordingly. The requirement for the Allied forces and for Allied and liberated areas is going to expand, probably quickly and to very large proportions. Formerly a heavy exporter of wheat, the United States is now on an import basis.

It will not be strange if the farmer sees in these circumstances a promise that export will go on still more briskly during the coming marketing year, and sows a larger acreage to wheat than he sowed last year.

Empire Relations

Two points made by Prime Minister Churchill in his speech yesterday are important because they clear up the position of the British Nations in respect to each other after nearly four years of war in which they have been associated more closely than ever before with many other countries, and particularly with the United States. As stated by Mr. Churchill, the occasion was not one for making advance declarations of policy, but rather for examination of the record as it bears upon inter-Imperial relationships.

The first point emphasized by the Prime Minister was that neither in the Atlantic Charter nor elsewhere have any commitments been made which would require interference with the structure of Imperial preference. In planning for a greater flow of trade among all nations for post-war years, Britain and the Dominions are "perfectly free" so far as the retention of preferences between them are concerned.

The second was that the Empire is not facing any emergency such as would require changes in its political structure. It is in no sense a "sick body", and does not need to be "tied together with bits of string". On the contrary, by free and equal association under the Statute of Westminster, the Commonwealth nations are more closely united in fact than they ever were before.

This speech was made on the eve of a conference at which the prime ministers of the Empire states are to meet, and where they will be involved largely in the discussion of post-war policies and plans. These two statements of fact clear away any supposition that the conferees might be hampered in these discussions by any wartime commitments made to other countries, or by any fears that the ties which bind these states are in danger of snapping. In these respects their freedom of action is complete.

If there have been those who feared or fancied the contrary, the statements make equally plain that the Empire is not being dismembered in any impulse toward internationalism, nor endangered by any attempt to interfere with the sovereignty of its member-states.

Veterans and Debt

A strong stand against imposing mortgage obligations upon discharged servicemen in the machinery set up to enable them to acquire land has been taken by the Hon. D. Bruce MacMillan, minister of agriculture for Alberta.

It is a stand that will be warmly endorsed by every thinking Canadian.

No matter what is done for the veterans of this or any other device for their assistance, the benefit will be nullified if it involves placing on them a burden of debt.

The Canadian people are content to make sacrifices of any extent in the rehabilitation of returned men and women. They are prepared to foot the bill for any reasonable amount of financial assistance.

But it expresses no gratitude to the veteran to lend him money on a basis of ordinary mortgage liabilities. It would merely place him in the unhappy position occupied by the returned soldiers of the last war.

Swedish newspapers say the Government has decided, with the approval of parliament, to refuse to stop shipping ball bearings to Germany. The delay in replying to the note from Washington indicates that the report is probably correct. The discovery that Hitler is distributing invasion-maps of Sweden among his troops in Norway evidently reacted at Stockholm otherwise than such a disclosure would have reacted at almost any other capital in the world.

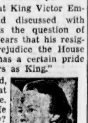
Recalls the Tragic Story of Forty Thousand Kings

Just What in King Victor Emmanuel's Life Has Been Kingly?

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

In a dispatch from Naples this week, I read that King Victor Emmanuel III had discussed with Allied diplomats the question of his throne. He fears that his resignation might prevent the House of Savoy. "He has a certain pride after many years as King."

I wonder what reading in what he had pride. What in his life has been kingly when Matteoti was murdered? Was he kingly when, under Hitler's orders, his Jewish subjects were deprived of their constitutional rights? Was he kingly when, with the fall of Mussolini, he ordered the balcony of the Palazzo Venetia lowered, the better to adjust to his diminuative height the rail from which the dictator had addressed the masses?



Dorothy Thompson

Kingship, in its origins, derives from warriors, the essence of Italy barters for his throne, and by bartering is no longer a King, "an empty vessel; a meaningless tradition.

I am reminded this week of forty thousand kings. Nameless, Uncelebrated. And dead. But the manner of their death?

It is just a year since the Schutz Staaffle in Warsaw decided to liquidate them—on Hitler's birthday; as a present for him, perhaps. There had been four-hundred-thousand of them to start with. Wretched little men and women, for the most part. The Gestapo in Poland had rounded them up and imprisoned them in a section of the capital city behind eight-foot walls. Within the walls the German army employed some of them, mostly as tailors, for making and repairing German uniforms. They were crowded into tenements, a score to a room. A mere subsistence of food rations passed daily through the walls. They were dirty, for the sanitation was wretched. They had lice, yes, and typhus. Perhaps you would have doubted whether this teeming mass were really human.

They were not proud before their conquerors, nor afraid. The conquerors posted notices, announcing that they would be deported, families kept together, settled elsewhere on land. There were Ten Tens of thousands grasped at the straw, not trustfully, but hopefully. In the end there were forty thousand left, the youngest and bravest, who had sent the weakest out first, to safety.

Then the news trickled back. The deportees had not been resettled. They had been massacred. Massacres in the midst of Warsaw were not a good idea. They had been lured elsewhere to their doom.

The forty thousand prepared to fight. Emissaries sneaking out in the dark established contact with the Polish underground and begged for weapons. Bit by bit the weapons came in—under carloads of potatoes—rifles, machine guns, even a few anti-tank guns.

All was quiet. Another transport of five thousand was taken away without resistance. A second was to follow on Hitler's birthday, April 20, 1943. When the Nazis came for the second transport the battle began.

The Nazi tanks had entered the ghetto, to find every house plastered with a call to resistance. Every street had been assigned a defense unit. Every house was a fortress. A young girl threw the first grenade.

The kitchens were commissariats. The army cooks old women. The children were couriers. From the houses flew the blue-and-white flag of Zion, and the Polish colors.

And the uniforms tailored for the Germans were on the bodies of the defenders and Nazis could not tell who was German and who not.

In German uniforms they passed out and in, bringing support. The S.S. had to pause and ask for army aid. But the army refused it, awaiting orders from Berlin.

The orders came, of course, and the fortress was bombarded. But outside squads, in German uniforms, broke through the lines with hand grenades, and blew up German tanks and themselves with them. Now the German command ordered the whole fortress destroyed by incendiary bombs. Inferno descended. And thousands perished. The survivors concentrated all in the centre. There in a few houses they fought to the end. And here the Germans had to contest every house. They drove the captured before them: they hanged men to the posts of ruins.

On the forty-second day one house was left. The blue-and-white flag waved from its roof top. It took eight hours to capture that single house. Every stair step was contested. By nightfall every defender was a corpse. All but one. He stood on the roof holding the flag he had guarded for forty-two days and nights. His last act was to wrap himself in it, and hurl himself head-foremost to the street. He was sixteen years old.

Forthy thousand, fought against a world. Not to be saved, but to be remembered. Not for a dynasty but for a race. Not only for a race—for humanity.

The boy with the flag, Victor Emmanuel. He was a king.

Free Speech

Editor, Bulletin: May I ask a few questions regarding Agnus McInnes' proposed bill that seems to me to take from the Anglo-Saxon that which he treasures beyond life—free speech!

We have contributed all we can to bring about a successful conclusion to this war and we hope to retain the right to express ourselves as democratic Anglo-Saxons in return for our loyalty to our country. If we see a glaring mistake, are we not allowed to express the opinion that it is a mistake, or must we revert back to dumb beasts that wear the yoke?

Mr. Agnus McInnes has been before us an alternative of being dumb or becoming a criminal in using the God-given right of self-expression.

Could we not have saved millions of lives and millions of hours of agony by inviting the very thing into our midst without a struggle, and accepting that soul-destroying doctrine so beloved by the brute beast of Europe—Appeasement.

Need More Help

Editor Bulletin: Just for comparison, while our city friends line up for hours for "booze and candy" we farmers and our wives must work anything from 14 to 18 hours a day, or as long as we can stand up, to keep our farms together and our herds producing.

Our one-time farm workers have gone to the mills, mines, industrial plants and shipyards, many having "a whale of a time," growing fat and prosperous on wartime conditions (never did so well or had so much in all their lives).

Don't you think, sir, we need a little of the "Hitler stuff" in this country to change the system on the home front and prosecute the war more seriously? Another thing, about these university students (brickbats or no brickbats), they're not all so clever; weed them out, I say; put them where they can be of service to their country in these most difficult times.

No wonder there's not enough butter, and if conditions don't change there won't be enough milk to go around either.

Radio

Editor, Bulletin: I agree with Mr. P. H. Ashby as regards radio license fees, but his oath of membership would defeat his organization effort. There were three very different kinds of radio communication long before the radio with its soap, dope and hope deforced away. There were telegraph, telephone and tell-a-woman.

Without the latter the three P's, politicians, preachers and police, would have no source of information and would lose much needed source of revenue.

Soldiers' Letters

Editor, Bulletin—I note the advertisement on mail delivery overseas.

It is hard for the general public to write soldiers' addresses in full on letters and parcels for overseas as few people know what the abbreviations stand for.

A soldier sends home his address with so many letters to it that he might be a great professor as far as most people know.

If the soldier is allowed to tell the unit he is with, then his friends will have a better understanding of his abbreviations.

Children

Editor Bulletin: The growing tendency of landlords to object to children is becoming a matter of urgent public concern, causing, as it does, great hardship and distress. Persuasion has little effect, and some other form of pressure is needed. The following is written, not with the idea that, as it stands, it will solve the difficulty, but in the hope that it will promote thought and, perhaps, discussion.

It is suggested that registry be compiled of all rented houses and apartments divided into two categories, those containing children, and those without, the latter being subject to a special tax. A person or committee being appointed to hold periodical open sessions at which all persons affected, landlords, tenants and neighbors, might be heard respecting the conduct and control of the register.

Re: Wage Adjustments

Editor, Bulletin: When the matter of wage adjustments was being discussed at the City Council meeting Monday night observations were made by at least one alderman to the effect that certain classifications of employees were more entitled to an adjustment than others. This remark is hardly in keeping with the spirit of harmony. A careful survey of wages and working conditions in the various cities of Western Canada will show that the relationship of one class of work to another class of work is fairly well balanced and by Civil instances on account of the complexity of the work involved comparisons are hard to make. This is particularly true in regard with reference to the clerical staffs and the outside workers. The classifications here are very numerous on account of the intricacies of the duties performed and unless staffs were trained for this work from their youth up they could not carry out the work assigned them efficiently. With particular reference to clerical help a survey shows that the rates paid for clerical assistance help in the cities of Vancouver and Calgary are substantially higher than in Edmonton, Vancouver being $34.75 and Calgary $14.50 higher than those paid in Edmonton.

With reference to outside workers the same situation exists. Troubleman in the Waterworks Department of the City of Calgary are paid $22.00 per month more than the same classification in Edmonton. It will be seen from the foregoing examples that these sections of the service are justified in seeking equality of treatment with the rest of the employees.

Is it Real Isolationism?

What Is True Position of Republicans in American Scene?

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

The American people are now engaged in evaluating the Republican primaries of Wisconsin, which suddenly ended the presidential career of Mr. Wendell Willkie, and subsequent primaries in other states. While at first blush the swing of Wisconsin behind Mr. Dewey was accepted by many as a vote favorable to some degree of isolationism—and this was Mr. Willkie's interpretation of it—some students of distinction now deny this interpretation. Mr. Arthur Krock, the Washington correspondent of the New York Times, insists that Wisconsin did not vote for isolationism. Mr. Walter Lippman, a most vigorous internationalist in the journalism of his country, appears ready to trust American foreign policy to the Republican party and doubts very seriously that Mr. Roosevelt should seek a fourth term.

It is significant that both writers are Republicans and both have been most powerful, and, naturally, severe respects of the President's policies.

Mr. Krock's analysis of the Wisconsin result and Mr. Willkie's decline in popularity begins with the assumption that the Democrats are engaged in wishful thinking. The Democrats, as a party, want to lead the nation to believe that only the re-election of Mr. Roosevelt can save the nation from isolationism. Thus they are glad to interpret any development, like the Wisconsin primaries, as a defeat for isolationism and hopelessness of the Republican party. Therefore, in Mr. Krock's view, the defeat of Mr. Willkie has been exaggerated by Democrats as a sign of Republican isolationism.

According to Mr. Krock, the man favored by the Republican voters of Wisconsin, Mr. Thomas Dewey, has not spoken definitely on the war, and is still so regarded by Mr. Willkie. Mr. Krock recalls that Mr. Dewey last year advocated a post-war alliance between the United States which Russia and China would be invited to join, to act as trustees until a world peace order could be organized. That, says Mr. Krock, is almost as far in internationalism as any presidential possibility has yet ventured.

But more significant to Mr. Krock is the other result of the Wisconsin primaries, in giving second place to Lieutenant Commander Stassen, former governor of Minnesota. This young man, now on active service in the Pacific, has gone further in the direction of internationalism than any eminent United States politician, has advocated a world government and has written that "like the Great Wall of China, the walls of American isolation have crumbled forever. . . . The people of America, including the Middle West, are determined to follow through to win an enduring peace in a stable world."

As Mr. Krock observes, Lieutenant Commander Stassen is a mild west politician, close to mid-west opinion, to the people who are supposed to be the core of American isolationism. Yet in Wisconsin he came next to Mr. Dewey in the Republican primaries and now he has led the field in other western primaries. The middle-western voters have given very generous support to a man who has urged their country to surrender part of its sovereignty in the interests of world peace, under the control of a world parliament. All this an internationalist like Mr. Krock, representing the New York Times, an old and gallant fighter for the League of Nations, finds very encouraging.

Mr. Lippman, who has done more than any other American writer to explode the legend of America's safety in isolation, has written a most significant article warning Mr. Roosevelt to think twice about a fourth term; but whether this was written before the Wisconsin primaries or afterwards is not clear. In short, Mr. Lippman holds that the isolationist party can only justify a fourth term if he is absolutely satisfied that the Republican party would betray his plans for this war and the vital interests of the United States in these plans.

Mr. Roosevelt, says Mr. Lippmann, has no right to assume that as a matter of course the Republicans cannot be trusted. If he believes that the Republicans can be trusted with the prosecution of the war and the making of the peace, says Mr. Lippmann, his own retirement would be best for him, for his party and for the nation—he should retire now before he is finally driven from office with a fierce and bitter division of the nation.

Without doubt, the President will weigh these arguments. No man wants to stay in the White House, in a continual agony of tension and strain, for sixteen years merely for the fun of it. In such great matters Mr. Roosevelt unquestionably will decide by what he conceives to be his duty to the nation. He may decide wrongly, as events turn out, but he will decide according to his conscience. The issues are too big for vanity or ambition in a man who already has served longer as the presidency than any other man and whose place in history now looms up beside that of Washington and Lincoln.

But the President will want to be convinced about the conversion of the Republican party. He will want to see the Republican candidate and the Republican platform on foreign policy, and he will want to be sure, if the platform is satisfactory, that it will be carried out. For Mr. Roosevelt is the same man who ran for vice-president in 1920 on the League of Nations issue, went down to defeat on it, watched the Republican party promise to support the League of Nations and then betray it, and helped to defeat the amendment, reservation and manoeuvre.

He will do everything to prevent this happening again. At the moment, the President is trying desperately to keep this whole issue out of party politics, to secure agreement between both parties on foreign policy, and if this agreement can be reached with sincerity on all sides, then American foreign policy will be safe for the world whether there is with autumn election. The next few months will show whether such agreement is possible, whether the Republican party has returned from its adventure in isolationism to its original place as the party of international-ism.

WASHINGTON—When Sir Owen Dixon, Australian minister to the United States, points out that Australia is feeding about 5,000,000 people outside of her own population, which is only part of the story of the Australian all-out war effort.

Sir Owen said that of Australia's total population, Australia enlisted almost 870,000 men in the armed services or about 12 per cent of her population. On the same basis, the U.S. would have to have 16,000,000 men in her armed forces overseas in the field on Feb. 1, which was 10,600,000, about eight per cent.

In dollar value of reverse lease lend, Australia has an equally good record. The exact figures have never been disclosed but it is reported they are in the neighborhood of $500,000,000. On the basis of U.S. population about 19 times that of Australia's, this would mean reverse lease lend of about $9,500,000,000.

Such figures, however, are misleading in the inherently inextricable interweaving of the mutual war effort of the two nations.

The best example of this interrelation was given recently by Col. Spencer B. Eddy, G.S.S., an officer of the general purchasing agent of the U.S. Army forces in the Far East. Testifying before the House Foreign Affairs Committee on the subject of reverse or the Australians say, reciprocal lease lend, Col. Eddy described the close interrelation of lease lend and reverse lease lend, thus:

"Take this question of food, for example," said Col. Eddy. "There is a fellow in Santa Barbara, California, who grows lima beans; there is a fellow in Gallatin Valley, Montana, who grows peas, and a fellow in Ohio who grows golden bantam corn. All those men raise those for seed.

"The United States government takes the seed and sends it to Australia on lend lease. That seed is turned over to a farmer in Australia and he plants a crop. Part of the units of his fertilizer, one of the basic elements of which is made from Florida; some of his farm machinery came from Illinois; some of his threshing machines came from the United States. He got some sulphur from Texas. All that went to Australia on lease lend.

"The Australian government made a contract with that farmer to grow a crop which the Australian government will pay for. The Australian government pays the canner to can it and the canner puts it in a can made of American tin plate which came in or through lend lease from Pittsburgh.

"Then the canner takes the can and it has to be put in a wooden box and the chances are it will be the wood from which he made the box from New Zealand. Then it is shipped on an Australian railway or reverse lease lend and put in an American warehouse that the Australian government built and rented to and turned over to us from reverse lease lend.

"Then when it is time to use that can, it goes down to the docks, is loaded by Australian stevedores that the Australian government pays, and it is put on a boat that Australia has given on reverse lease lend and the boat is provisioned and powered under reverse lease lend.

"If it is coal that is used for power, that came from Australia, and that was under reverse lease lend. When the boat gets up north, it is unloaded on some of the docks that they built up in the Islands out of Australia timber with Australian hardware which Australia paid for. Then the food is stored in a temporary hut which is made of Australian steel and paid for by Australia.

"I might say, incidentally, that we are taking one-half of the sheet steel produced in Australia for our houses and warehouses at the present time.

"Then, when it comes down to the consumption of the food, the can is opened by an Australian-made can opener, it is cooked in an Australian-made stove and it is eaten with Australian knives and forks out of an Australian mess kit, and all of that comes out of reverse lease lend.

"The American boy who eats the food has completed the cycle, because the chances are that somewhere along the line his father back home had something to do with some of the products that eventually produced that product. That," concluded Col. Eddy, "is reciprocal and the way it works out in the field."

Major and Miner Notes

By John Oliver

WITH the conclusion of the Edmonton Civic Opera Society and Women's Musical Club activities the greater number of the current season's musical events have become history. The main occurrence remaining before the curtain finally descends, is the Alberta Musical Festival.

JOHN OLIVER

There are also some other matters of no little importance to those concerned, such as examinations, that will keep students and studios well occupied until the end of June. Entries for the music festival closed last Monday, and indications are that the list of competitors will be one of the heaviest in recent years. With several unusual features accompanying the festival there should be an abundance of public interest, not only in the competitions, but in the non-competitive parts, such as the recital by Max Pirani, the address by Sir Ernest MacMillan, and the conducting by Sir Ernest of a massed school children's choir.

What promises to be an event of importance will be the annual Mother's Day concert sponsored by the Navy, Army, and Wings Club at the Garneau theatre on Sunday evening, May 14. The concert will be given by the Edmonton Phil harmonic Orchestra, under the baton of Abe Fratkin, with the assistance of Mrs. James Walker, mezzo-soprano. The committee in charge consists of Mrs. Ernest Meaden, Mrs. H. S. Craig, and Mrs. James A. Buchanan.

* * *

Announcement that the Philharmonic Orchestra will play under Mr. Fratkin's baton should insure a capacity audience. The orchestra made two public appearances last season, under the direction of Ronald Shean, violinist, one at the Women's Musical Club, and the other at the Rialto theatre. Since that time, the conductorship has passed to Mr. Fratkin, and intensive rehearsals have been carried on this year.

Mr. Fratkin is a musician who has amply demonstrated and proved his worth in this city. He was born at Gomel, Russia, which has figured prominently in news dispatches on several occasions, and which was wrested from the invading Boches in the great winter offensive of the Red Army. He received his early musical training in Russia, and was a contemporary of Mishel Piastro, for 10 years concert master of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra, and rated by Leopold Auer as one of six best pupils.

As a young man Mr. Fratkin came to Canada and settled with his family at Winnipeg, where he took a prominent part in orchestral playing. Coming to this city, he was appointed musical director of the Capitol theatre, a post which he held for 10 years, and only relinquished it when the theatre was given over to sound films. While at the Capitol he played the musical accompaniments for many of the great films of the silent days. Also, he conducted the Capitolians, a large concert orchestra, that made regular appearances on the stage in between the picture shows.

During the years the Edmonton Symphony Orchestra operated, Mr. Fratkin either played in the first violin section, or, as was the case in several seasons, was associate conductor. He was the managing director, for many years, of the Art Music Company. In recent years his main musical activities have been devoted to teaching. His extensive orchestral knowledge and acquaintance with the standard orchestral repertory will be of invaluable assistance in his leadership of the new organization.

* * *

Mrs. Walker, who will be the soloist, is one of this city's most talented and most popular singers. Her recitals during the regular Women's Musical Club seasons, always have attracted large audiences. On this occasion her appearance no doubt will be specially welcome. She has a particular interest in the Navy, Army and Wings Club, as her son, Wing Cmdr. James Walker, D.F.C., is one of Canada's most distinguished airmen of the war.

* * *

Noreen Bristow, leading soprano of the Edmonton Civic Opera Society, left this morning for Vancouver, where she will appear during the summer season with the "Theatre Under the Stars" Company. The good wishes of Edmonton music lovers go with her. Ever since she appeared as a High school girl in the operetta "The Rose of the Dancehall" she has been one of the most sought-after of this city's singers. She has taken the leading roles in many of the opera society's productions, including Faust, The Student Prince, The Desert Song,

Veteran Graduates as Pilot After Landing Damaged Plane

The crew of the giant bomber had finished its job of dumping a load of bombs on a target in Germany and were settling down for the run home when suddenly an enemy fighter attacked. The pilot was badly hit and in a matter of minutes his twin-tiddled aircraft, with one motor gone, was rapidly losing height, partially out of control.

PO. J. C. Bailey, C.G.M., bomb aimer aboard the plane, with no previous pilot training, took over the controls of the damaged plane and landed it safely back at a base in England.

That was last August and in January of this year PO. Bailey returned to Canada to receive training as a pilot. Thursday afternoon he graduated from No. 4 I.T.S. at Edmonton.

GIVEN DECORATION

A sergeant at the time of the incident, PO. Bailey was awarded the Conspicuous Gallantry Medal for his feat. He modestly says it was just "good luck" that enabled him to get the ship back and land it safely, and that most of the credit is due the navigator of the craft. After the attack they were lost, "cause you certainly don't worry about staying on course at a time like that," he said. The navigator located their position and plotted a new course for home, dodging enemy defences.

"It would be a lie to say I wasn't scared," the airman said, "as for the flying, I just did what I'd watched the pilot do dozens of times."

Back at their base crew members counted up to 87 holes in their plane, and then quit.

PO. Bailey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bailey of Denholm, Sask.

WENT OVERSEAS IN 1942

He wanted to enlist in the air force on Dominion Day, 1941, but had to wait until July 2. Training at Regina, Virden, Man., Trenton, Ont., and Paulson, Man., he graduated from A.O.S. school at Winnipeg and then proceeded overseas in 1942.

The young airman was married in England last December to Miss Beulah Sylvia Finch of Surrey, which may account, in part, for his impatience to "get back over there in a hurry."

"Pinch" Pilot

PO. J. C. Bailey, C.G.M., bomb aimer aboard a damaged bomber, was pinch-hitter for the pilot, who was wounded over Germany, and landed the plane safely back at its base in Britain. He was awarded the Conspicuous Gallantry Medal, and is one of very few men to have received the award in the present war.

Mother Gives Golden Wings To Flier Son

A kiss from his proud mother was the unusual accompaniment of a wings presentation to Flt. Lt. Gilbert "Micky" Middlemass of Wainwright at No. 2 A.O.S. drill hall Friday afternoon.

Flt. Lt. Middlemass received gold operational wings from his mother while F/O. O. S. Comishen was also presented with gold wings in a special ceremony additional to the graduation of a large class of navigators and air bombers.

BOTH ARE INSTRUCTORS

Both officers are instructors at No. 2 A.O.S. who have completed at least one full tour of operations overseas. Flt. Lt. Middlemass escaped from a Nazi prison camp.

Wings were presented to the school graduates by Group Capt. C. H. Flinn, chief supervisory officer in charge of air training for No. 4 training command. Group Capt. Flinn is himself a veteran of many aerial battles with the R.A.F. in the First Great War. He also served in Syria and other parts of the Middle East prior to the present war.

Group Capt. Flinn told the graduates their training as airmen is "never finished" and not to be discouraged if their next course happens to be delayed because of changed training schedules. He urged them to keep themselves in "first class physical condition at all times."

Three Edmontonians were among the large class graduating, including students from Canada, Britain, Australia, New Zealand and the U.S.A.

CITY GRADUATES

Edmontonians were: Sergeants A. Smith, S. W. Stuart and W. M. Hunt.

Sgt. A. E. Sovereign, Peace River, son of Rt. Rev. A. H. Sovereign, bishop of Athabaska, was among the graduates. His father attended the ceremony.

Honor students were Sgt. G. Christie, Edinburgh, leading the air bomber class, and Sgt. G. H. V. Baker, U.S.A. heading the class of navigators.

Trophies from Canadian Airways Training Ltd., were presented the honor students by "Ginger" Coote, former bush pilot and airlines operator.

Band of No. 4 I.T.S. played during the ceremony and in the march past when Group Capt. Flinn took the salute.

Hospital Board Plans No Action On Relief Debts

Pending further study of relief accounts outstanding on the hospital books, each case will be dealt with on its individual merits, it was decided Friday night at a meeting of the Royal Alexandra hospital board, rather than to write off the entire liability as suggested by the city council.

Dr. A. F. Anderson, superintendent of the hospital, stated that it was impossible to obtain a clear picture of the amount of "relief" accounts still outstanding, without a large expenditure of money to make the investigation, as these accounts had never been segregated from the ordinary cases.

MANY PAID OFF

Lengthy discussion on the matter revealed that many persons had paid off old relief debts, or compromised on such debts and if was agreed that for the time being the policy of the board to study each case individually would be continued.

Analysis of the financial statement for March showed that during the month the cost of operation of the hospital reached an all-time high of $57,892. This brings the total for the three months of 1944 to $167,160, which is over $17,000 more than in 1943 and exceeds the estimate by more than $2,000.

Increases occurred in practically every department of the hospital. Salaries, accounted for the major portion of such increases and the hospital was unusually busy.

Earning for March were $50,000, an increase over February and January but total for the three months is still running behind last year.

GRADUATION REPORT

A report on graduation arrangements submitted by Miss M. S. Fraser stated that the exercises will be held Wednesday, April 26 at 8:15 p.m. in First Presbyterian Church and will be followed by a reception and dance in the nurses' residence.

Mayor John W. Fry has consented to present the prizes. The committee appointed to deal with applications for the Tegler scholarships has selected two recipients and these will be announced at graduation.

Miss Lucy McLellan, housekeeper of the Royal Alexandra gave a short talk on housekeeping administration. She stressed the fact that the paramount problem today is maintaining an efficient staff.

STATISTICAL REPORT

Dr. Anderson's statistical report for March showed a total of 137 babies born, 78 male and 59 female. Nine hundred and fifty-five patients were admitted during the month and 1,075 discharged. There were 24 deaths. Operations numbered 485, of which 159 were major and 326 minor.

Recommendation of the executive committee that the firm of Patriquin, Johnstone and Co. be re-appointed as the board's auditors for 1944 was approved by the board.

Prosperity and Exports

■ From the days of the fur trade, Canada's prosperity has been linked to exports.

Furs . . . fish . . . lumber . . . wheat . . . our surpluses of these, sold abroad, have been the means of a fuller life at home.

In time, other sources were opened up. Manufactures, minerals, pulp and paper, became exportable. Prosperity kept pace.

To-day, war has swelled our exports to new proportions; employment and national income are at record levels.

When the war ends, our prosperity will be measured by our success in diverting to peaceful ends this vast export flow created by war.

In the servicing of export trade, The Dominion Bank, one of the Chartered Banks of Canada, will be prepared to assume its full share of this important function after the war.

Strength of Democracy

Have Men in Forces Been Told in Sufficient Detail Of What They Fight For?

This is the twentieth of a series of articles by Sumner Welles, former United States Under Secretary of State, which appear exclusively each week in The Edmonton Bulletin.—EDITOR.

By SUMNER WELLES
Former United States Under Secretary of State

An officer of the United States Army whom I had not previously known, who is now serving in Italy, has sent me a letter from which I quote these paragraphs:

"Last night I read your statement in 'The Boston Globe' of Feb. 24, copyrighted by the New York Tribune Inc., which dealt with international organization, the promise of the Atlantic Charter, the pledges at Moscow, Cairo and Teheran. You asked, 'But what are the masses of the people so far enabled to see of any positive implementation of the Atlantic Charter?'

Sumner Welles

"I say sincerely, 'Thank you deeply for your statement.' And I ask, equally sincerely, that you make the statement over and over again; that you ask your question until you have produced . . . a reply which . . . will satisfy the 'masses of the people'."

The repeated asking of this question, even if it were asked by many who possess greater eloquence and more authority than I, cannot necessarily bring the answer which so many millions want.

But this officer's letter sharply underscores a query which has been much in the minds of some of us. Have the men in our armed services as yet been told in sufficient detail of the political ends for which they are fighting, and particularly of what we are doing, in each area of combat, to make sure that we achieve our political post-war objectives?

POLICY DATA URGED

Would they not be greatly helped, not only while they are overseas, but also after they have come home to resume their responsibilities as individual American citizens, if they were able to know more fully of the manner in which our foreign policy is supplementing their own military efforts, and of the why and the wherefore of what this government is undertaking in the political field? Would they not also be heartened if they could see their government, especially in the Mediterranean theatre of our military operations, at long last make practical use of that valiant aid which can be offered by the local forces of democracy, which until now have been so ineffectually employed?

Our fighting men are fully aware of our over-all aims. They have heard the noble words in which the President reiterated these aims only the other day when he said: "The United Nations are fighting to make a world in which tyranny and aggression cannot exist; a world in which all persons, regardless of race, color or creed, may live in peace, honor and dignity."

But I wonder if the men who, for example, are today fighting for this country in Italy are able as yet to see very clearly just how our present policy toward the Italian people has furthered those objectives.

The importance of this issue will increase as the war continues, especially after the invasion of western Europe has taken place. The effectiveness of our military forces which are engaged in operations on Italian or French soil would be enhanced if our men better understood our political, as well as our military strategy, and therefore saw more plainly how they were not only helping to defeat the Axis tyranny, but also helping to construct the kind of world of which the President has spoken.

PROBLEM OF ITALY

The scene would be at least partly clarified if they could see all of the democratic forces among the peoples of Italy and of France cooperating in our common objective of restoring freedom to those now enslaved by Hitlerism or Fascism, rather than remaining sullenly or resentfully aloof, as has unfortunately been the case in many instances.

If, as now appears possible, the six democratic parties in liberated Italy are able to agree upon a formula by which they will create a coalition war cabinet upon the retirement of King Victor Emmanuel, and the designation by the latter of a "lieutenant," it would constitute a great, and an encouraging, step in advance. The armies of the United Nations have now been in control of southern Italy for many months, but the invaluable support, material as well as moral, which they would have been able to obtain from the active collaboration of these elements of Italian democracy has so far been little utilized. It has not been used, because, until now, the major powers among the United Nations have not agreed upon any common political strategy for Italy—one which recognized the necessity of employing the power of local democracy as an adjunct to their war effort.

With regard to the people of France, the political picture of French-United Nations relations is still confused and uncertain. The need for an unreserved collaboration between the United Nations and all elements of French resistance—particularly those who hold high the standard of French democracy—could never be more vital than it is at this moment, when the invasion of western Europe is imminent.

Upon it depends how rapidly French liberation can be achieved, and the curtailment of the suffering of the people in occupied France. Upon it also may well depend the saving of many French lives, and the saving of the lives of many of our own men.

A final termination of the increasingly dangerous tension between the French National Committee and the United Nations is essential. We must have the full co-operation of all French patriots when the United Nations armies of liberation enter France.

The President has been everlastingly right when he has stressed the need for giving supremacy in all of our operations in the Mediterranean areas to military considerations. It should for that very reason be one of the chief aims of our foreign policy to eliminate every obstacle which stands in the way of our obtaining the loyal co-operation of all democratic forces in those regions. For they can be of powerful assistance to us—military as well as political.

As we progress toward our political objectives our men who are fighting for us must know of each advance.

Those citizens of the United States who are risking all they have for their country are entitled to derive all of the inspiration and encouragement they can obtain from the knowledge of what their government is doing to lay the foundations for that free and peaceful world of the future which alone could compensate them for their present sacrifice.

LAC. J. F. T. Spencer, Magrath, who remustered to aircrew from the Canadian Army, was the honor student with an average of 92 per cent. Wing Commander Ewart G. Macpherson, commanding officer of No. 4 I.T.S., presented him with an engraved identification bracelet.

Arbor Day on Monday, May 1

Arbor Day will be observed in Alberta Monday, May 1, it was learned Saturday from provincial government officials.

Whether or not the day will be observed as a government holiday will be decided when Premier Ernest Manning returns to Edmonton at the beginning of next week.

Last year, the government did not close for Arbor Day, as it fell the week after Easter holidays had been taken. However, Liquor Control Board stores observed the holiday.

Announcements regarding close of government offices may be expected next week.

It's backed by expert service

IN SPITE OF SHELL AND BOMB DAMAGE, in spite of cruel overloading and the wracking punishment of mine-blasted roads, motorized columns have continued to roll forward carrying United Nations troops and supplies. Ford mobile workshops, equipped with welding equipment, lathe, drill press, and other tools, and manned by skilled mechanics, are playing a real part in keeping motorized equipment moving in the war zones.

Here in Canada, Ford trucks are bearing a heavy share of the load in keeping materials and equipment moving to and from the production lines. 700 Ford dealers right across Canada are doing a thorough job in supplying expert service for car and truck owners.

Though many of their skilled mechanics are serving with the armed forces, Ford dealers have done a magnificent job in keeping essential transportation operating efficiently.

A GREAT POWER PLANT

Over there, and here at home, the famous Ford V-8 engine keeps the loads rolling along the road to victory. In stamina, in smoothness, in economy, it's today's outstanding engine. It's noted everywhere for its trouble-free performance. But when it does need tuning up or overhauling, it's backed over there by skilled army mechanics, and here in Canada by the service of 700 Ford dealers.

Hints on Growing, Cultivation of Roses

By WALTER WILSON, Noted Grower

Cutting Blooms.—This is as important as pruning and the stems of all blooms should be cut down to within three or four buds or leaves of the stem from which it is growing. In this way it leaves less buds for that particular stem to develop before producing another bloom. In other words, by cutting your blooms on a long stem you will secure another crop of good blooms earlier.

Cutting Blooms for Exhibition.—All exhibition blooms necessarily have to be cut on fairly long stems to have any chance in competition. We have, however, been asked when and at what time to cut blooms for exhibition. Much depends on whether the bloom is too late for the show date or too far advanced. If you consider blooms are needed for showing which are rather late in bud, it is advisable to cut them three or four days before the date of show and insert them in water practically up to the head and keep in a fairly warm atmosphere. This will generally advance the bloom. In cases where the bud is likely to be too early or is becoming too far advanced for the day of show—we have known exhibitors to cut their buds a week ahead, wrap them in wax paper (that is the bud) and place the stems in cold water and keep in a cool place, and in a week's time the blooms are invariably perfect for exhibition. To be assured of the best exhibition blooms the buds should be cut a couple of days before the show—in the morning, not evening—placed in cold water and kept in a cool place, when they will be in perfect shape for the show bench. Of course, this does not apply to all varieties, as some rose blooms do not have so many petals as others, but as a general rule exhibition varieties have a large number of petals and the above handling will apply.

General Care of Rose Bushes During the Growing Season.—To be assured of complete success follow our instructions on watering, manuring and pruning. We should mention, however, that after planting, some bushes get nicely started, show leaves and then in the course of a week or so the whole bush gradually dies back. This is generally caused by the bush not being firmly packed with soil around the roots. This trouble is particularly noticed in years when strong winds occur soon after rose bushes are planted. While the bushes may have been properly planted (the roots having been trampled and packed with earth), the strong winds gradually loosen the bushes in the soil. We would recommend a good tramping around all the bushes, say every two or three weeks after planting until well established. Of course, leaving the top two inches of soil loose.

Planting Roses

Care must be taken to avoid deep planting. Dig the holes square, not round, and preferably larger at the bottom than the top.

Cut off all broken or damaged roots. The roots should be spread out carefully and evenly spaced, with the roots pointing in every direction.

Planting a Lawn? Check Your Soil

Now is the time for the home owner to fertilize, topdress and reseed his lawn. The first job is to rake up all the leaves, twigs and other debris, vigorously enough to rough up the earth but not enough to pull out any clumps of live grass.

Spread the fertilizer at the rate of 10 to 15 pounds per 1,000 square feet. If the grass is thin a light top dressing (about 1/16 inch deep) of screened sandy soil and humus is recommended. Rake this in with the fertilizer to even up low spots or thicken bare spots.

Next comes seeding, at the rate of three pounds per 1,000 square feet. A very light rolling is recommended if the ground is not frozen or very wet. A light roller is one which a woman or a child can easily pull.) This will firm the seed into the soil and press back any loose grass tufts. High spots should be reduced with a spade and reseeded, not ironed out with a heavy roller or tamped with some hard implement. A mechanical spreader is best for application of both fertilizer and seed.

Lawn soil foundation should include: (1) Top dressing of screened sandy soil, humus and fertilizer to insure (2) deeper root growth; (3) 3-4 inches manure-enriched topsoil; (4) 4-6 inches sandy gravel or other porous subsoil.

Fertilizing and seeding early in the spring gives the grass a head start on the weeds. Eliminate the weeds as they appear, rather than waiting until July when they have taken possession of the yard. Set the cutting blade on your mower to cut about two inches high. Wait until the grass is two to three inches tall before the first mowing, but do not let it grow so tall that it topples over and mats down. Mow frequently and allow clippings to remain on the lawn.

Feed and topdress again in late August. Keep your lawn mower cleaned, oiled and sharpened.

Production of milk and eggs is reduced by sudden changes of temperature in dairy barns or poultry houses.

A Tribute to the Food Producer

The farmers and stockmen of Western Canada are making a magnificent contribution to the war effort by maintaining a fine record of food production.

Their achievement is particularly notable because of the many difficulties and discouragements to be overcome . . . including shortages of help and materials. Under these arduous conditions the farmers are "carrying on" in the best tradition so that the food that is so necessary to the winning of the war may not be lacking.

It is a source of great satisfaction to us that we are able, in some measure, to help the food producers meet the problems facing them during these trying times — and to assure them of our continued effort to supply them with lumber to meet their essential needs.

You are invited to consult the Beaver Lumber agent on your building problems — at an early date — for the best advice, assistance and materials available.

What to Do With Germany

By LOUIS NIZER

Long Before Hitler's Rise, German Industrialists Planned "Der Tag" with International Control of Vital War Materials; Financed Start of New Army.

Chapter VI.

As early as 1920, and probably before, the leading German chemists and industrialists planned the second World War. They had unlimited funds at their disposal, hidden in Holland, Switzerland and the United States, in the names of citizens of those countries. And they rightly calculated that foreign investors would pour money into Germany if it feigned inability to pay reparations.

Krupp von Bohlen, Fritz Thyssen, Hjalmar Schacht, Hugo Stinnes, Albert Voegler, director general of the United Steel Works, and many others.

Many of the German patents were seized in Britain and the United States during the first World War. But the Germans were little affected by this because they had never properly revealed their patents, though this is required by international and national patent laws.

These German industrialists and chemists planned Der Tag with their own weapons. Having a monopoly of synthetic nitrogen, they planned to infiltrate into foreign industry an economic fifth column which would seize control of war industries.

Karl Duisberg, the chief chemist of the German Bayer Company, had prolonged the first World War by his development of ersatz food and clothes. Karl Bosch, chief chemist of the Badische Anilin-und-Soda Fabrik, had invented chlorine poison gas, surpalite and yperite. Fritz Haber, head of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institut, had discovered how to take nitrogen out of the air. Synthetic nitrogen had served for both explosives and fertilizer. These three veterans of the first World War, together with many younger adherents, plotted to recapture the dye and pharmaceutical markets.

FIRST STEP

The first step was to merge every important chemical firm in Germany into one huge trust. The Germans with their craving for polysyllabic names called it the "Interessengemeinschaft Farbenindustrie Aktien Gesellschaft". Then branches were established throughout the world. It was known in the United States as the I. G. Farben. This enormous enterprise, which obtained control of vital industries throughout the world, and acted at the same time as the espionage centre for the German military clique, was as instrumental in conquering Europe as the German army. And it antedated Hitler's ascent for fourteen years.

Karl Duisberg became chairman of the Board of I. G. Farben. Karl Bosch, its president. It encompassed not only the chemical industries but also the heavy industries, such as steel and munitions. Therefore it included representation of Adolf Kirdorf, czar of the German Coal Trust, staff trained in newer technique could be carried on secretly.

SECRET TRAINING

But how was a huge army to be trained in secret? The answer was the sport camps and recreational centres throughout Germany. The entire youth of Germany suddenly became interested in physical culture and long hikes. Aviation training was achieved through glider clubs. Thus the prohibition against the construction of military planes was circumvented. All this, too, preceded Hitler and the Nazis.

In 1928 Germany successfully invaded the Orient in its economic war. An agreement was entered into with the Japanese government to take over its chemical industry and train the Japanese in the manufacture of explosives and light metals. Poison gases were included, and under the tutelage of an I. G. Farben chemist were, and are still, being manufactured at the Sumitomo Chemical Co. plant at Wihima. Full agreement was also reached with Japan concerning synthetic nitrogen, which involved licenses to the Japanese trusts of Mitsui and Mitsubishi. The Axis was forming long before Hitler.

In 1931 Mussolini desired a great Italian chemical industry for war purposes. He needed the Farben patents and secret formulae. He was readily induced to force the Italian firms to amalgamate into the Farben monopoly. This was achieved by the organization of the Agenzia Chimiche Nazionali Associati to manufacture all dyes, heavy chemicals and aluminum for Italy. Farben took 49 per cent of the stock. Montecatini received 51 per cent. But this was a typical German illusion. Actually Germany dominated this company through its patent control.

FORCED INTO ALIGNMENT

By 1932 I. G. Farben substantially controlled important European industry. Chiefly by means of price-cutting policies the outstanding French firm, Etablissements Kuhlmann, was forced into alignment with I. G. Farben in 1927. In 1929 I. G. Farben obtained control of the three largest chemical companies in Switzerland—the Ciba, the Gergy and the Sandoz companies.

The attorney and representative of I. G. Farben in France was Pierre Laval!

I. G. Fargen acquired 50% of the stock of the Chemiwill Dyestuff Corporation, the American company which had obtained the I. G. Farben patents from the Federal Alien Property Custodian. Soon Farben owned 100% of this company. It had reacquired its patents. Then it changed the Grasselli Company into the General Aniline and Film Corporation. Similarly the American Bayer Company, which had acquired the German Bayer patents from the Alien Property Custodian, was absorbed and made an I. G. Farben unit in the Sterling Products Corporation. These companies were the main suppliers of the pharmaceutical markets throughout Latin America. They were now in German hands.

SHARE OF FORD STOCK

I. Farben had owned a substantial share of stock in the Ford plant at Cologne, Germany. Edsel Ford owned shares in the I. G. Farben organization (General Aniline and Film Corp.) in the United States. He became a director of this company. This association, while innocent so far as Ford was concerned, resulted in such anomalous by-products as Fritz Kuhn, later the leader of the Nazi Bund in the United States, being employed in this country as a chemist in the Ford motor plant; Henry Ford receiving a Nazi medal; and his refusal to manufacture airplane motors for England.

Holding forth its patents for the manufacture of synthetic gasoline as bait, I. G. Farben formed an association with the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey. This was achieved through the medium of a new corporation called Standard I. G. Company. Thereafter this company acquired the International Hydrogenation Patents Company Ltd., which controlled synthetic oil patents throughout the rest of the world. Walter C. Teagle, chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Co. of New Jersey became a director of General Aniline and Film Corporation.

NEW MATERIALS CONCEALED

German patent control through cartels extended to vital and new materials essential to war. Strategic new materials were concealed from our country. When a Nazi armored car was captured, chemists discovered that it had been constructed from an unknown metal alloy lighter than aluminum and stronger than steel. Only then did it become plain how Nazi motorized forces had been able to extend their radius of activities "abnormally". This and other alloys were made from magnesium and beryllium.

International cartels gave Germany advantages in the plastic field. German plastics have in many instances qualities superior to wood, glass, porcelain, and other materials. Moreover, it became possible to replace complicated machine-tool work with simplified casting. Germany held basic patents for plastics of strategic military importance and issued licenses in such a manner as to limit foreign production.

When the war began, German planes were already equipped with this material! The German firm of Rohm and Haas A. G. held the basic patents. Subsequent evidence before the Truman Committee revealed that there was only one company in the United States producing this strategic material. It was Rohm and Haas, Inc., of Philadelphia. The German and American firms had a world monopoly on Plexiglas.

SPECIAL AGREEMENT

I. G. Farben had a special agreement with Rohm and Haas, Inc., whereby Farben agreed not to manufacture any product similar to Plexiglas, while Rohm and Haas agreed not to use their patents for articles which would be competitive with Farben. When the American government purchased Plexiglas, a royalty of three per cent was paid to the German company. Even after the war began in 1939, Germany continued to do "business as usual" with Plexiglas. It arranged for the American company to serve Germany's markets and pay over the profits, minus an appropriate service charge.

Royalties were paid on Plexiglas to the German firm even after enactment of the Lend-Lease Act. The reports on sales to the United States and Canada served of course as an easy index for the Luftwaffe as to the progress of the manufacture of military airplanes in the United States.

Dominion Wants To End Destitution

By C. R. BLACKBURN

PHILADELPHIA, April 22.—(CP)—Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Canadian minister of labor, told a plenary session of the international labor office conference yesterday that whatever might be planned at the meeting here the first objective of the United Nations was to win the war.

"Let us clearly understand," he said, "that our primary duty is the destruction of the greatest menace that has ever confronted mankind."

Canada was solidly behind international efforts to eradicate "destitution through unemployment, destitution through sickness and destitution among the aged."

The United Nations had been "magnificent in destruction," said Mr. Mitchell. If they applied the same energy and talents to the problems of reconstruction "the future of our respective nations is assured."

Force Is Necessary To Maintain Peace Declares Halifax

ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 22.—(CP)—Viscount Halifax said Friday that whatever arrangement is made for international order in the post-war world, "we must never forget that unless it has behind it a force sufficient and ready to prevent its violation, sooner or later a Hitler, or a Tojo, or a Mussolini will rise up to challenge it."

Treaties and pacts and covenants are necessary, but unless we are ready in the last resort to see to it that they mean what they say, they are a dangerous illusion."

"I'VE DONE IT!"

Mr. Picobac burst into the kitchen where his wife was nursing her knitting.

"I've done it," cried he.

"Done what? Mercy sakes!"

"I've arranged to buy a thousand dollar Victory Bond as an investment for your old age."

"Where on earth do we get a thousand dollars?"

"At the bank," replied Mr. Picobac calmly. "It's a loan raised on the reputation of the name Picobac. They'll hold the bond—and it's backed by all the resources of the third richest country in the world."

"Well," sighed Mrs. Picobac; "if I thought it would bring Pete home any sooner . . ."

"It will," declared Mr. Picobac confidently. "Every little bit helps." He struck a match.

Presently through the peaceful Picobac kitchen the delicious fragrance of prime Canadian burley indicated that somebody had settled down for a mild . . . cool . . . sweet smoke."

TODAY'S MESSAGE

By REV. G. C. WARREN, D.D.
Chairman of the Canadian Baptist Foreign Mission Board.

Inner Strengthening

—Eph. 3:16

FOR many in these soul-testing days life is far from easy. Perhaps God never intended that life should be anything but a struggle for us all. At any rate, sooner or later, we all undergo the stern disciplines of life.

To some, life deals desperate, staggering blows. Their friends expected them to go down under the desperate blow. It seemed more than they could bear. But to their delighted amazement they stood up under the blow, took it on the chin, and went on their way with a smile. They displayed unexpected fortitude and courage. They possessed hitherto unrevealed inner resources. They had access to some power beyond their own.

Whence comes this inner strengthening? From the indwelling Companion. By faith Christ dwells in our hearts. He is the Strong Son of God, who never bit the dust of a single moral defeat. In his valedictory to his disciples he said, "I have overcome the world." He dwelt in God and drew his strength from the eternal hills. Now He dwells in his own and can place the resources of heaven at our disposal. He can reinforce our weakness with his all-conquering might, meet our insufficiency with his all-sufficing grace, and strengthen us with might by his spirit in the inner man.

Across the centuries many have experienced this strengthening from the indwelling Companion. Thousands in conquered Europe have found the hiding of the Divine power as they have resisted the Nazi determination to make the Church subservient to the State. Outstanding among many heroes of the faith in Europe are Martin Niemoeller of Germany and Bishop Berggrav of Norway. While paying the long price of loyalty to Christ, they have experienced the inner strengthening.

Prayer keeps men in touch with God for their inner strengthening. Prayer is no magic formula by which God suddenly changes the outward circumstances of our lives. After the most fervent prayer the outward conditions may remain the same, the pressing problem be still unsolved, and the crushing burden still to be carried. The help God gives operates from within the life and not from without. Prayer did not remove Paul's thorn in the flesh. It did something infinitely better: it brought him in touch with Christ's all-sufficing grace. Jesus prayed that the cup of suffering might pass unquaffed. In the purpose of God that prayer could not be answered. But in that dark hour he received inner strengthening that enabled him to say, "Not my will but thine be done," and he faced Calvary with unflinching courage and imperturbable calm.

The value of prayer is not that it changes the outward circumstances, but that it transforms us. In prayer we find the hiding of God's power and have our own inner spiritual resources released.

Consecration provides God with an opportunity for giving inner strengthening to a life. It is the price of the infilling with the Divine power. When the life is adjusted to the Divine will, the power flows in. We often marvel at the remarkable power some lives possess. However, there is no great secret to it. Take Wm. Booth for instance. He has made the roll of the Salvation Army drum encircle the globe. When asked the secret of his phenomenal success, he answered: "From the day I got the poor of London on my mind and a vision of what Jesus Christ could do with the poor of London, I made up my mind that God should have all of Wm. Booth that there was." When God has all of a man, he can flood that life with his power. Consecration pulls up the sluice gate of self and allows the whole ocean of God's power to rush at flood tide into all the creeks and channels of a man's soul. Then he is truly strengthened with might by God's spirit in the inner man.

VICTORY LOAN

North Alberta Unit Record

To assist the Rural Unit Committees in the 6th Victory Loan Campaign which opens on Monday, April 24th, the record of their respective Units in the 5th Victory Loan is given below. This will serve for the information of the people residing in those Units, all of whom are naturally interested and have a pride in the degree of participation by their Unit in comparison with other similar Units. Particular attention is drawn to the ratio of the number of applications to population, in the confident hope that this time there may be a very substantial increase in that number.

There are naturally great variations in this ratio. Units on the edge of settlement in North Alberta have widely scattered populations, difficult means of communication, settlers in the homestead stage, few centres of population, etc. They cannot be expected to compete on equal terms with old, well-developed communities, enjoying the full benefit of the increase in prices for agricultural products and having many well established towns and villages. In these respects other Units lie between these extremes.

The residents of each Unit should study the list to satisfy themselves that they occupy their proper relative position in the scale. Those standing fairly well up now will want to do much better.

This tabulation is published to assist the hard working Unit Committees and to stimulate all residents within each Unit to increase the number of applications in the 6th Victory Loan and to increase the dollar amounts of applications as well, to the limit of the capacity of each Unit, irrespective of the quota which may have been given to it. At the conclusion of the Loan, it is proposed to publish a similar report, recording the increases both in number of applications and in amount.

In the 5th Victory Loan, applications by the Armed Forces were included in the figures of the Unit in which the various establishments of those forces were situated. For 6th Victory Loan, the Armed Forces, both as to quotas and results, are being treated on a province wide basis. To form the basis of comparison with the new Loan, therefore, the following tabulation is "Less Armed Forces".

NATIONAL WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE

North Alberta Headquarters, 10048 104th Street, Edmonton, Alberta

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

UNLESS Coach Hugh O'Leary is quick to forgive and forget, his Port Arthur pucksters would have been packed off to their pillows without their muffins last night. Those Quebec Aces were touted as having a lot of power, but a 15-4 count is just about the ultimate for an Allan Cup final effort.

That descriptive word "exterminate", which Russian war correspondents dug up about a year ago and have been using to good purpose ever since, just nicely fills the bill for both senior and junior finals. But "obliterate" or "decimate" might do in a pinch and at a saving in letter space too.

The move made by the C.A.H.A. to strengthen the Trail Smokies for tonight's game—no doubt the last in Memorial series this year, unless a miracle comes to pass—seems to be justified under the circumstances. Outclassed Wednesday, and oddly enough also by a score of 15-4, Trail with three outstanding players on the shelf, is in a hopeless position.

The John McCormack—one of the three taken from St. Michael's College team for tonight—was with R.A.C. juveniles here last year and previously was a midget with the same club. And with three of their team also on the Generals' lineup, it's going to be tough on St. Mike's rooters who sit in tonight.

HERE AND THERE

IT was not surprising to learn that Frank Drayton and George Bowen were interested in the proposal for the ambitious fastball program for boys in this city. These two have done much to provide good wholesome sport for Edmonton youngsters and it is a real break for the boys that they have taken a hand in the new venture.

Doug Stevenson, now with the city child welfare department, should also be a real help. "Dougie", well known for his work behind the plate at Renfrew Park and his hockey activities, has recently received an honorable discharge from the Canadian Army. A former E.A.C. junior goalie, he was with Chicago Black Hawks during the 1942-43 season. He'll be catching 'em for the Dodgers in the senior baseball loop this season.

One of the suggestions advanced in connection with the new fastball program is that all boys who play should be given a pass to the senior ball games at Renfrew Park, with the exception of Sundays.

Entries for the Alberta Derby which will be run at Victoria Park, Calgary, on May 24, include Edmonton, dark bay filly by Brooms out of Watch Out, belonging to Mrs. L. W. Alcock of Edmonton: Nikkicita, bay filly by Brooms out of Nikki's Blonde, and Kelly Somers, brown chestnut by Will Somers out of Una O, both from the stable of Weiller and Williams Co. (Lee Williams).

Distance of the Alberta Derby is one mile and the event is for three-year-olds foaled in western Canada. The entry list closed on Jan. 1, 1942 with a total of 47 entries, thirty of which are now eligible.

Meeting Next Friday

Extensive Fastball Program Proposed for Edmonton Boys

A COMPREHENSIVE plan under which boys in all sections of the city would take part in a fastball program during the period from May 10 to July 15, with a championship series to follow, is the goal of a group of representative citizens.

A meeting will be held in the Civic Block, at 8 p.m. next Friday, April 28 and an invitation is extended to those interested, other than actual players. Community League and other district representatives are especially invited.

It is expected that a prominent part in the season's program will be taken by the members of the Federation of Community Leagues and the proposal already has the approval of Bonnie Doon, Cromdale, Eastwood, Forest Heights, Highlands, Jasper Place, Riverdale, North Edmonton, Rossdale and Westmount leagues. Teams from schools and clubs would also be eligible.

A temporary committee of which Frank Drayton is acting as chairman and which also includes Geo. Bowen, chairman of the Federation of Community League Sports committee and Doug Stevenson, already has done considerable preliminary work. Also included in the list of those interested in the plan are Art Skitch, A. R. Lawrence, John Ducey, Bob and Herb Coxford, and Ed. Beckwith.

It has been suggested that activities be confined to two classes, namely: Those boys who have reached the age of 15 years by July 15, 1944, and boys over the age of 15 on that date. The only restriction would be that the boys must be attending school.

The proposal is to have each community league or district, or school, or club, as the case may be, declare its local winner under its own schedule of games and these winners would then meet in the championship series of Boys' street grounds between July 15 and 30. The champions would receive a set of medals suitably engraved.

WILL PROVIDE MEDALS

Frank Drayton has volunteered to personally look after details of the playoffs and arrange for the medals.

It has been suggested that there should be no restrictions to prevent a community or district from choosing their players in the two sections for the final playoffs, adequate precautions being taken of course to prevent "packing."

Members of the temporary committee have expressed a willingness to attend any community or district meeting to more fully outline the program. Phone numbers are: George Bowen, 21328; Frank Drayton, 21275; Doug. Stevenson, 21613.

Shipbuilders Outclassed as Eastern Champs Pour in Goals for Two Straight

Quebec Aces Smother Port Arthur 15-4

Scoring Hits New High for Cup Playoff

QUEBEC, April 22.—(CP)—Quebec Aces virtually clinched the Allan cup Friday night when they swamped Port Arthur Shipbuilders under a 15-4 score to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-five final series before more than 7,000 fans.

The 19 goals constituted a modern record for an Allan cup final playoff, and Aces' 15 goals was also a modern record for a single team. The Aces swarmed in around goalie Jimmy Hill practically throughout the game to pile up their impressive margin.

Third game of the series will be played here Monday night, and there was no doubt in the minds of those who watched last night's contest that Aces would need only one more to wind up the series.

Practically all the Aces except goalie Lionel Bouvrette got into the scoring bee. Rollie Rossignol led the parade with four counters, three of them within 12 minutes in the second period. Eddie Bruneteau collected three, and Lude Cheek, Armand Gaudreault bagged two each, with others going to Nils Tremblay, Buck Slahan, Rosie Rozzini and Jim Robinson.

Ben Dinning, Bill McKenzie, Norman Larson and Les Eaton were the Port Arthur Marksmen.

Nine-Fight Winning Streak Halted

LaMotta Stopped by Marshall

CLEVELAND, April 22.—(AP)—Hard-punching Lloyd Marshall of Cleveland and Sacramento, Calif., stopped Jake LaMotta's nine-bout winning streak last night, winning a unanimous decision over the New Yorker in a 10-rounder at the Arena before 7,805.

Marshall forced to come in at not more than 161 pounds or forfeit $5,000, built up an early lead that LaMotta's closing rush was unable to overcome.

Jake was not his usual roughhousing self in the early rounds. He was cautious and fought from a crouch, while Marshall did the leading.

Marshall was awarded the first eight rounds on The Associated Press score card and LaMotta took the final two as he launched a two-fisted attack against his tiring opponent.

Both scrappers engaged in a wild exchange that had the crowd roaring in the final heat. Marshall, rated as the number one active light heavyweight, weighed 160½, almost five pounds below his best fighting weight. LaMotta, best of the middleweights now active, scaled 158½.

Thirty Eligible 14th Running Alberta Derby

CALGARY, April 22—A total of 30 thoroughbreds, including 14 fillies, remain eligible for the 14th running of the $1,000 added Alberta Derby, May 24, at Calgary Victoria Park, it was announced today.

The list is headed by three fillies —Leo Bancroft's Divilje, Whittier Park stock farm's Galline and Sam Riddle's Double or Nothing—which were prominent in Western Canada two-year-old racing last season.

Foremost among the colts and geldings eligible for the Alberta stake are A. H. Hall's Dry Marsh, L. R. Knifong's Gibsongower, the Whittier farm's Gower Mon and W. J. Yale's Roman Prince, all of which showed good form as juveniles.

The Alberta Derby, formerly held at Chinook Park, Calgary, was shifted last season to the more centrally-located Victoria Park. It is at a distance of a mile.

A surprising percentage of the thoroughbreds originally nominated for the stake still remain in the running. Forty-seven were included in the original entry for the derby when the list was closed Jan. 1, 1942.

Last year's winner of the three-year-old stake was H. A. Shepherd's Baby Broom, and in the 14-year history of the derby six winners were bred at Whittier Park stock farm in Winnipeg.

Sun Again Races Mar-Kell Today

BALTIMORE, April 22.—(AP)—Compact fields of five and six horses respectively were named Friday to start in the southern Maryland and Harford Handicaps, each carrying $7,500 in added money, featuring the racing program at Pimlico today.

Topping the list of five named for the southern Maryland, which is contested at a mile and 1-16th, was the Calumet farm entry of Sun Again and Mar-Kell. Top-weighted of the six probable starters in the six furlong Harford was H. Guy Bedwell's Sollure.

Sun Again finished third in his only previous start here—the Bowie Memorial won by his stablemate Pensive—and he and Mar-Kell appeared likely post-time favorites, although there was also considerable early support for Tola Rose, winner of the Bowie Handicap last Saturday, and for Greentree stable's Four Freedoms.

South Siders to Practice Monday

South Side girls' fastball team will hold a practice at Scona High grounds on Monday night starting at 7 o'clock.

An invitation is extended to all girls interested. The club is entered in the "B" division city girls' league which operates at Kingsway Park.

NEW YORK, April 22—(AP)—The hearing on the application of Jockey Bobby Merritt for a license to ride on New York race tracks was concluded Thursday night before a joint board of the New York State Racing Commission and the jockey club. Decision was reserved. Merritt denied any wrong-doing in the handling of horses which he rode, as well as association with persons of unsavory reputation.

Charlie Croft Is Elected Head Municipal Club

Charlie Croft was elected president of the Municipal Golf Club Friday night at the annual meeting held in the club-rooms. The new head succeeds retiring president Tommy Dalkin who was in the chair last night.

Other officers elected included: Men's team captain, V. Mohr; secretary, Gordon Barker, and treasurer, J. Matthews.

Members of the men's executive committee named last night are W. C. McCormack, E. A. Wakefield and T. J. Reilly while Mrs. Slessor, Miss Daisy Johnson and Mrs. F. Ross were named to the women's committee. Mrs. Bert Gee, wife of the popular pro at the club, is the new women's captain.

Retiring secretary, Alex Hamilton, gave a financial report at the meeting. Activities for the season were discussed, but nothing definite was decided. It is expected, however, that the club will follow a schedule similar to that of last year.

Orlando Appeal Is Disallowed

CINCINNATI, April 22—(AP)—A four-year prison term and $2,000 fine imposed on James Vincent Orlando of Montreal, professional ice hockey player and former member of the Detroit Red Wings, for violation of the selective service law, was affirmed without written opinion Friday by the sixth U.S. circuit court of appeals.

Orlando was accused of falsely representing himself to his draft board as a mechanic on the basis of employment in a Canadian factory.

Trail Juniors Will Use Three St. Michael's Players

TORONTO, April 22.—(CP)—Though St. Michael's College of Toronto didn't get past the Ontario junior hockey finals, half the team will be out there battling in the Memorial cup finals tonight when Oshawa Generals and Trail Smoke Eaters tangle in the fourth and possibly last, game of the best-of-seven series.

Four St. Mike's men are on the Oshawa roster as replacements, and Friday Trail was granted permission to use three of the Toronto squad to replace three Smoke Eaters injured in Wednesday night's game when Generals romped to a 15-4 victory. Generals lead 3-0 and can clamp the cup on their mantel with one more win Saturday.

Meanwhile Frank Sargent of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association said Trail would be allowed to use Johnny McCormack, Edmonton, Jim Thomson of Winnipeg and Bobby Schnurr of Preston, Ont., in the balance of the series. The replacements were permitted under an emergency rule at the request of the British Columbia Hockey Association, which presented a physician's certificate forbidding Lorne DePaulis, Frank Turik and Clarence (Mark) Marequess to play hockey again this season.

Turik received what was described as a pinched nerve in his arm, Marequess has a bad shoulder and DePaulis suffered an ankle injury in Monday's game and aggravated it further by playing Wednesday.

St. Mike's men playing for Generals are Ted Lindsay, Dave Bauer and Gus Morison. They were taken on the roster along with substitute goalie Jimmy Marois after Generals ousted St. Mike's in the Ontario finals.

Manager-coach Charlie Conacher of the campaigning Generals Friday revealed why his charges are so anxious to wind up the series in a hurry tonight. Six of the Oshawans are planning to join the navy as soon as the series is over. Bill Reinicki, Bill Barker, Bob Love, Jack Taggart, Floyd Curry and Ken Smith, the brightest of Generals' stars, all will put on the bell-bottomed trousers in the near future, coach Conacher said.

SPORT Oddities

In 1929, Elmer Reger, halfback of Ohio Wesleyan football team, was on his way to a touchdown against Denison College. His belt broke, and although it was impossible for any opposition player to tackle him, Reger's pants downed him on the six yard line. Ohio Wesleyan, however, soon got the touchdown and won the game.

Adams Finally Goes Route As Giants Win Fourth in Row

BROOKLYN, N.Y., April 22.—(AP)—It took Ace Adams four years to see both the start and finish of an opening day ball game but the veteran relief artist, who appeared in 70 games a year ago but started only three, was present for both Friday, as he ruined the day for 11,861 Ebbets Field customers by hurling the New York Giants to a 3-2 decision over the Dodgers in the bums' home bow.

Ducky Medwick, a Dodger of yesteryear, helped the Ace along the way with two singles that drove in two of the Giants' scores.

It was the fourth straight for Mel Ott's men.

Eighteen Derby Eligibles Named For Wood Today

By ORLANDO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—Don't blame some of the 50,000 turf fans expected to journey to Jamaica today if they think it is May 6 and they are at Churchill Downs for the 70th running of the Kentucky Derby.

They'll have ample reasons for thinking they are seeing Col. Matt Winn's run for the roses, for 20 three-year-olds, 18 of them eligible for the Derby, have been named for the 20th Wood Memorial over a 1 1-16 miles route.

There'll be two Wobd Memorials—the final Metropolitan Preview of Kentucky's three-year-old classic. When the names of an even score horses were dropped into the entry box this morning officials of the Long Island decided to split the race with each division worth $25,000 added.

Not since the Preakness was split into two sections in 1918 has so important a race been run in two divisions in this country. The Preakness then was not as rich a race as the Wood will be today.

The two fields were drawn by lot, with the pick of derby candidates landing in the first division. As the result, the two derby favorites—Col. C. V. Whitney's Pukka Gin and Mrs. Payne Whitney's Stir-Up—will match strides for the first time as three-year-olds.

Col. Whitney also will bid for the second division with his big son of Boojum, Hoodoo, who'll run coupled in the betting with J. M. Roebling's Magellan—the only non-winner in the two races.

U. S. Engineers Expected Arrive In East Sunday

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., April 22—(CP)—The United States Army Engineers basketball team from Edmonton is expected to arrive here Sunday to play Merrittee Hayes for the Canadian senior basketball championship.

The Engineers replaced Pat Bay Gremlins of the R.C.A.F., last season's western Canadian titlists and also victors this year, who were refused permission to travel here from British Columbia for the series by the air force. Merritton won the eastern Canadian title.

Engineers first won the Alaska-Canadian-American tourney at Fairbanks, against quints from Sitka, Attu, Nome, Anchorage and Ladd Field, then returned to Edmonton and later lifted the Alberta crown. They lost to Pat Bay but because they were able to travel decided to make the trip here and represent the west in the Canadian playdowns.

First game will be played here Monday. Dates for other matches in the best-of-five series have not been announced.

DES MOINES, April 22—(AP)—Lou Nova, Van Nuys, Calif., heavyweight, scored the second victory of his comeback invasion of the middle west with a technical knockout over Pug Wilson, Gary, Ind., in eight rounds here last night before a crowd of 3,000.

Nova weighed in at 205, Wilson at 196.

Appeal Probable In Extradition

VICTORIA, April 22.—(CP)—Ralph M. Wilby, alias Douglas Alexander Hume, committed for extradition to New York City to face grand larceny charges involving $275,084, will probably appeal committal by habeas corpus before a supreme court judge either here or in Vancouver, it was learned here yesterday. Wilby was committed by Judge H. H. Shandley in county court here April 11. Deadline for the appeal is 15 days after committal.

24-year-old member of the German army, disappeared from a works project at Regan, Ont., in Northwestern Ontario, near the Manitoba-Ontario boundery, yesterday. His escape brings to two the number of German prisoners of war at large at the present time in this province. Thursday, Werner Winterfeldt, 23-year-old German seaman, escaped from a prisoner-of-war camp at nearby Mimico.

To Buy VICTORY BONDS

Buying Victory Bonds is something every member of the family, from the youngest to the oldest, CAN do and MUST do if we're to win this war! Our fighting men are giving their LIVES... we're only asked to LEND our MONEY!

The tide of the battle may be in our favour, but this is no time to slow up the fight. Every added day of the war costs many Canadian lives and millions of Canadian dollars. Save those lives, those dollars... buy Victory Bonds!

The RISING COST OF WINNING

MOVING into this hell on earth are our men—armed with the weapons you are providing, riding in the barges and ships you helped to buy, flying the airplanes and driving the tanks and trucks and jeeps—yes and firing the ammunition that you helped to buy, too.

And our men keep driving the enemy back because they have the tools to do the job. But make no mistake. The cost in every kind of military supplies jumps unbelievably with every invasion because equipment wears out faster, more of it is lost or destroyed and the stock-piles of new supplies just seem to melt away when our forces go on the attack—relentlessly driving the enemy back.

These stock-piles have got to be re-built—faster and faster—as the speed of invasion and attack increases. That means that everyone here at home has got to keep doing his or her FULL PART in the factories and in the fields.

It means too, that more and more money will be needed for these supplies to keep our fighting forces ON THE OFFENSIVE to speed Victory... and it means that the war is being shortened and that more of our sons and daughters will be home... sooner. So concentrate on the rising cost of winning...

Colors of Two Famous Regiments Will Be Carried in "Loan" Parade

Colors of two famous Edmonton Regiments will be among the features of the Sixth Victory Loan parade to be held through Edmonton streets, commencing at 9 p.m. Monday, those of the Edmonton Fusiliers and the 49th Battalion (Edmonton Regiment) C.E.F., the forerunner of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment.

The colors of both these regiments stand for long and valorous service.

The 49 Battalion colors have been resting in a place of honor in the officers' mess at the Prince of Wales Armory, while those of the Edmonton Fusiliers have been in a similar place at Victoria Armory.

The colors are feeling the weight of the years, despite the greatest possible care, and it is only on the most auspicious occasions that they appear in public.

COLOR PARTY

The 49th Battalion colors, will be carried by the perpetuating unit. A color party, drawn from the 2nd (Reserve) Battalion, The Loyal Edmonton Regiment will be under command of Lt. J. R. Carmichael, who with Lt. E. B. Wilkin, will carry the colors. The escort will consist of Sgt. J. Boer, Sgt. P. G. Dunn and Sgt. L. Wynn.

In the parade the colors will be about the middle of the regiment. Two companies and the regimental band will precede the colors, while the remainder of the battalion will march behind.

The Edmonton Fusiliers colors will be carried by the 2nd (Reserve) Battalion Edmonton Fusiliers. The color party will be under command of Lt. W. F. Miller, who will carry the King's color. The other officer of the party will be 2-Lt. P. C. Howard, who will carry the regimental color.

THE ESCORT

The escort will be under CSM J. W. Parsons, a senior warrant officer and will include CSM H. C. Howell and CSM E. A. Taylor. The colors will be carried approximately in the centre of the battalion as it marches in the parade.

Prior to the commencement of the parade the regiments will carry out their colors and hold special ceremonies at their respective armories.

Edmonton Liberals Will Meet Tuesday

Youth Arrested By City Police

A 15-year-old Edmonton youth, said to have admitted the theft of two new typewriters and a motion picture machine from Edmonton schools, was placed under arrest by city police late Friday. Only the typewriters were recovered, police having been told by the boy that he had left the machine in some forgotten spot.

Detectives Kenneth O'Brien and Alex Bremner stated that the youth had filed the serial numbers off the typewriters.

Theft From Store

A sterling silver toilet set, composed of a brush, mirror and comb, with a retail value of $35, was stolen Friday from a display case in Reed's gift shop, Jasper avenue, according to city police.

Will Preside

G. E. H. Hauff, president of the 1914 Red Chevron Club of Edmonton, who will preside at his organization's annual Ypres get-together, to be held Saturday night in the 103 street I.O.O.F. hall. Tonight's function will be the 25th consecutive observance held since 1919, when the first one was held.

58,000 Auto Licenses Sold

Approximately 58,000 motor vehicle licenses have been issued in Alberta since the beginning of April, Edmund Trowbridge, M.B.E., deputy provincial secretary, stated Saturday. Some 78,000 drivers' licenses have been sold in the same period.

The extra 20,000 drivers' licenses are accounted for by the fact that in many families, more than one person is qualified to drive a car.

The mail-order demand for licenses is still brisk, Mr. Trowbridge reports. This is partly due to the fact that motorists must buy their 1944-45 "stickers" at the same place where they bought their previous year's license. This is necessary to obtain the same sticker numbers that appear on the 1943-44 metal plates.

Assistant to Noted Teacher Of Dancing Says Canadians Fine Exponents of Waltzing

"Arthur Murray taught me dancing in a hurry," are words of a popular song that could be sung with truth by Miss Bennie Greye Lewis, quietly competent secretary to Capt. George Carroll of the U.S.A.A.F., stationed in Edmonton.

But the line from the song is not quite literally true because Arthur Murray does not teach dancing to his myriad of pupils in all parts of the world ". . . in a hurry." It's a pretty painstaking, drawn-out and sometimes heart-breaking process to be taught dancing by the world-famed Arthur Murray.

Miss Lewis is well qualified to speak on the subject because, she was not only taught dancing by Arthur Murray but taught the Arthur Murray system of dancing to others at his dancing school at Wenshington, D.C., for more than five years.

Born in Samson, Alabama, Miss Lewis is a graduate of the University of South Carolina and a daughter of Dr. B. J. Lewis, M.D., who served as a medical officer in France in the First Great War.

Miss Lewis came to Edmonton about one year ago as secretary to the special assistant to the commanding general of the Alaska Wing of the Transport Command, U.S.A.A.F.

As instructor, receptionist and supervisor at Arthur Murray's busy Washington studio, Miss Lewis helped teach some of the world's great the art of terpsichore. Just who some of these are Miss Lewis declined to reveal.

"With Mr. Murray the names of clients are strictly confidential. The same principle that applies to the patients of doctors governs," she said.

NATIONAL LEADERS

"But I can assure you that some of the outstanding leaders of every nation, both men and women, have taken dancing lessons," she added.

Greatest thrill experienced by Miss Lewis was dancing with Mr. Murray himself at a studio staff meeting.

"My knees were really knocking together and Mr. Murray suggested I relax," Miss Lewis said.

Of the world's next-known teachers of ballroom dancing, Miss Lewis revealed a peculiar characteristic.

"Mr. Murray is himself very shy despite the fact dancing is itself the best cure for shyness."

Every person joining the staff of an Arthur Murray dancing school must go through an intensive training period of from three to six months, with continuous instruction of about six hours a day.

"It is a very strenuous training," Miss Lewis said.

MUST MASTER DANCES

First of all the various dances must be mastered, such as the waltz, foxtrot, rhumba, tango, samba, conga and jitterbug.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

When will the second front start?

THE ANSWERS

HARRY STAMMERS, clerk: Your guess is as good as mine, but the day cannot long be delayed. I expect to see the invasion take place about mid-May, but I would not be surprised to hear news of the actual invasion any hour. I only hope the Germans will get as a great a surprise as I expect when the day does come.

WILLIAM FORBES, storekeeper: Why bother about when the second front comes. The men in charge of affairs military will see to it that the invasion will start when the Allies are ready to the last button. Asking questions concerning the day it will start will not speed it up one second.

• • •

THOMAS MULDOON, miner: I guess the day is not far distant when the invasion will start. Daily I expect to hear that our forces are fighting again on French soil. It cannot come any too soon to suit me.

Adopt New Plan Of Registration For Unemployed

A new system of registering applicants was inaugurated at the Unemployment Insurance and Selective Service Commission office at noon Friday.

The new system is devised to eliminate delays, simplify procedure and relieve congestion. The main difference is that all applicants fill out their own registration forms giving previous employment experience, whereas they previously had to wait their turn to be interviewed by a registering officer.

Six types of forms will be used in future, one for unskilled and semi-skilled workers; one for agricultural workers, one for skilled trades; one for sales, clerical and professional; one for special services, for workers needing special consideration because of physical handicaps and an entry form for those entering industry or employment for the first time or with no background of experience.

The applicant will apply as usual at the front counter where an incoming registering officer will ask him what is his occupation. He will be handed the form covering that type of work and then he may go to a section of the office where several long tables have been installed. Here he may sit down and fill out his own form and then hand it to an out-going registration officer who checks the information making sure that the applicant's phone number and address is stated so that he can be quickly reached as soon as a position is open for him.

In this manner many people can be registering without having to wait for interviews, and it will not be necessary for the applicant to return to the office until he is notified that a position is available.

Will Discuss Revisions For School Readers

A revision of school readers used in grades 1 to 6 in the four western Canadian provinces will be discussed at a conference to be held in Edmonton sometime in June, it was announced Saturday by Dr. H. C. Newland, supervisor of schools, department of education.

Officials of education departments of the four provinces will attend the meeting, which is to follow one held in Calgary last month. At this first meeting, preliminary discussions on the school reader question were held, but no decisions were reached.

Reports coming from Winnipeg Friday suggested that the present readers, used for the last 10 years in western schools, may be discarded. A recent survey by the Manitoba education department has indicated the readers now used have too difficult a vocabulary, and there are too many "myths and fairy tales."

Dr. Newland said that in Alberta the department is not committed to a single set of readers, and will distribute three sets for use in the province.

The Calgary meeting had rejected a proposal to use one set of readers for grades 1 to 6, and the feeling expressed there was that the lower three grades should be independent of the upper three in the matter of readers.

In Alberta the government supplies readers up to Grade 6.

Coal, Gold, Silver Production Drops

OTTAWA, April 22.—(CP)—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday Canadian output of coal in February decreased to 1,465,697 tons from 1,578,864 in the corresponding month of last year. Gold production declined to 256,866 fine ounces from 327,404, and silver to 1,273,329 fine ounces from 1,622,688, while gypsum production increased to 63,126 tons from 23,517, lime to 75,266 tons from 72,408, and natural gas to 5,022,743,000 cubic feet from 4,489,386,000.

Chamber Meet

FORT WILLIAM, April 22—(CP)—Annual convention of the Canadian Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held here June 10 and 11, William Fuller, vice-president, announced Friday.

Mother "Frantic" When Eviction Order Reported

One definite eviction order has been reported to the Edmonton Accommodation Bureau by the wife of a soldier and mother of four children, who is "frantic," Mrs. Marguerite Fielding, director, stated Saturday.

In addition, she said, "there are dozens and dozens of applicants for houses who have judges' orders to vacate by April 30 and who may possibly receive eviction orders before May 1 or be forced into the same position of an applicant, the mother of four, who felt voluntarily to avoid the eviction fee and is living with neighbors while her furniture is stored in a garage."

"Most of the applicants, and there were 40 in on Thursday, tell the same story—they have no houses in Edmonton, but for sale only, and they can only afford to rent.

"Last fall, before the six months' notice went into effect, there were about eight families put out on the street with their furniture."

MAY BE EMERGENCY

Although there is no way of telling whether the situation is worse now, Mrs. Fielding pointed out, certainly on the basis of the more than 40 applications on file, it can be authenticated that there may be a severe emergency situation by May 1.

Mrs. Fielding said that in some cases applicants have pointed out to her that there have been opportunities for housing accommodation in suites in homes which were eventually ruled them because of their lack of conformity with present zoning regulations.

She said that there seemed to be some confusion as to the actual housing situation because while it is true that the transient situation has greatly improved, housing accommodation for families has become increasingly worse.

Victory Loan Organization Is Now Completed

Organization for the Sixth Victory Loan campaign in Edmonton and Northern Alberta was completed on Friday when sales teams enlisted and ready to swing into action when the signal for the opening is sounded Monday.

Teams captains report that there is a keenness apparent amongst the general public this time which augurs well for the success of the loan and in many districts large numbers of subscriptions from individuals already have been made.

W. L. Caldwell, divisional organizer, Peace River area, reported to the Edmonton office of the National War Finance Committee Friday, that more than $3,000 had been subscribed by eight investors, and it is anticipated that this community will quickly exceed its quota. In the Fifth Victory Loan the quota for this territory was $75,000 and it was exceeded by 35½ per cent.

At Wesiglen and Victoria High schools campaign organization has been completed. Committees have been set up by the students council for all rooms and an intensive canvas has been in progress. The two schools throw out a challenge to all other schools in the city to beat them in this campaign.

Graham F. Towers, chairman of the National War Finance Committee, will officially open the campaign with an address to be delivered over all Canadian radio stations. This address will be heard at 6:45 p.m. and will be followed immediately by an address by Lt.-General A. G. L. McNaughton, CB., C.M.G., D.S.O., D.C.L., V.D., B.Sc., M.Sc., former commander-in-chief of the Canadian Army.

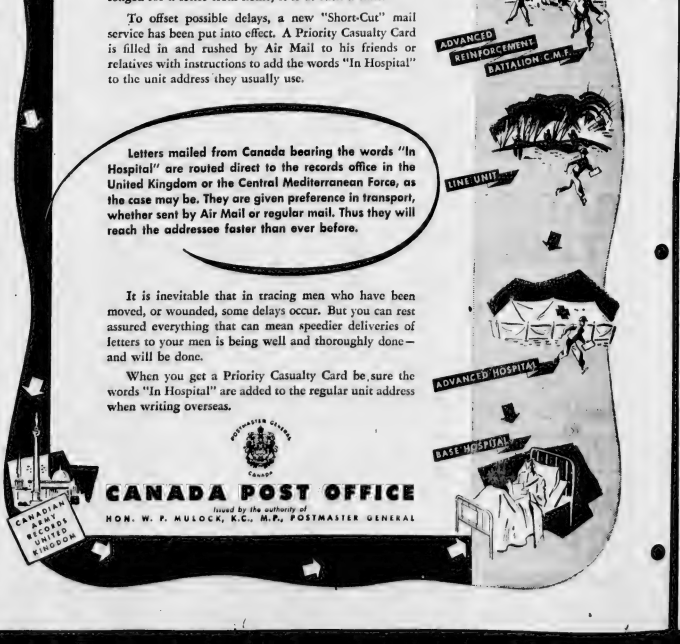
Canadian Sailors Presented Awards

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 22—(CP)—Honors conferred on three members of the Canadian Navy for gallantry at sea were presented to them formally yesterday by Governor Sir Humphrey Walwyn of Newfoundland. The Distinguished Service Cross went to Acting Cmdr. J. W. Doyle, R.C.N.V.R., Saint John, N.B., and British Empire medals to Stoker P.O. Douglas C. Fisher, R.C.N.V.R., of Saskatoon, and Leading Seaman C. M. Chapman, R.C.N.R., Murray Harbor, P.E.I.

Bey of Tunis Gives Canuck Decoration

OTTAWA, April 22—(CP)—Capt. Guy V. Beaudry of Bishoptown, Que., Canadian Armored Corps, has been decorated by the Bey of Tunis for "valuable services rendered" during and after the campaign in Tunisia in 1943, the defence department announced yesterday. Capt. Beaudry, 26, was employed on special duty in Tunisia in 1943.

ADDRESSES ON THE MOVE . . .



WHEN a man is wounded in action or seriously ill, he is rushed through field and base hospitals with all possible speed, to the place where most effective treatment can be given. Because of this rapid movement, his mail may not "catch up" for some time, yet, if ever he longed for a letter from home, it is at such a time.

To offset possible delays, a new "Short-Cut" mail service has been put into effect. A Priority Casualty Card is filled in and rushed by Air Mail to his friends or relatives with instructions to add the words "In Hospital" to the unit address they usually use.

Letters mailed from Canada bearing the words "In Hospital" are routed direct to the records office in the United Kingdom or the Central Mediterranean Force, as the case may be. They are given preference in transport, whether sent by Air Mail or regular mail. Thus they will reach the addressee faster than ever before.

It is inevitable that in tracing men who have been moved, or wounded, some delays occur. But you can rest assured everything that can mean speedier deliveries of letters to your men is being well and thoroughly done—and will be done.

When you get a Priority Casualty Card be sure the words "In Hospital" are added to the regular unit address when writing overseas.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Making Home for Waif Helps Childless Pair

Couple Will Give Country Fine Gift in Bringing Up Orphaned Little Ones, Will Make Happier Home

Among my correspondence are a couple whose only flaw in their happy marriage is that they have no children. They are fortyish, highly respected by all who know them, comfortably well-off, own their own home, but they are lonely in it because its walls echo to no childish laughter and there is no patter of little feet along its floors.

They have made strenuous efforts to adopt a child, but apparently the baby supply is not equal to the demand. Everywhere they have been met with the same reply: "We will put your application on file, but we have a waiting list a mile along and it may be two or three years before your number comes up and your request for a child can be considered."

WOMEN CRAVE CHILDREN

There isn't a day that I do not get pathetic letters from women who have been denied motherhood, but whose arms ache to cuddle a little head against their breast, who ask how they can find children to take into their childless homes.

To these child-hungry men and women I would suggest a sort of Lend Lease Baby Proposition, by which I mean taking as paying guests some little human waif who, up to the the ill winds of chance, has been cast upon the shores of life, with nowhere to go and no one to care for him.

This service the Children's Bureau, which has a branch in every city, performs. Instead of sending these forlorn little ones to orphan asylums, as was formerly done, it tries to place them in homes in which they will grow up in the home atmosphere that is every child's birthright, and in which they will have the love and care and guidance of a good man and woman. For this privilege it pays the child's board in the cases in which he has no family, or the family has no money.

It seems to me that this offers a unique opportunity for people who want to adopt children, but who cannot get them, to satisfy their hearts' desire to have a baby to pet and cuddle, or smart youngsters growing about them. And it has this further advantage, that if the child and his foster parents do not click they can part, as they cannot do in the case of adoption.

GREAT NATIONAL SERVICE

The people who take in the little child boarders and who give them the pentup parental affection that has had no outlet before, not only add to their own happiness, but have a chance at doing a great work for their day and generation. For they have these children at the impressionable time of their lives, and when they give love to a lonely, love-starved child, when they hold high ideals of conduct before developing boys and girls, when they light the fires of ambition in uninformed little minds they have given to their country the finest gift that is possible to make. They have done a great work.

Of course, the one objection to the Lend Lease Baby Proposition is that it is temporary, and it is often a heart-break when the foster parents have to give up the children they have learned to love so dearly.

But, in reality, none of us keep children with us very long. Life takes them from us. Before we quite know it they are no longer babies, no longer school boys and girls. They are gone from the home nest. But we have had our happiness with them and we have our memories and their love. And the foster parent has that as well as the real one.

W. I. in Northern Alberta

By MRS. HUGH J. MONTGOMERY—Box 514, Wetaskiwin.

Mrs. A. H. Rogers, Edmonton, left this week to represent the Navy League at their meeting to be held in Kentville, Nova Scotia. She expects to be out of the city about two weeks.

HAPPY CENTRE

Dr. Hasinoff of Mannville was a visitor and gave information on the food value of Red Cross parcels sent overseas. Eight quilts have been completed for the Red Cross and seven for the Navy League as well as two jackets and a number of knitted articles. A quilt has also been made and bears the name of every man enlisting from the district. This has been sent to the Beaver Club, London. A member who is leaving was presented with a small gift in farewell.

Homemakers' problems are being studied and members are busy knitting and making quilts for the Navy League. Approval was expressed at the new day and hour for W.I. broadcasts.

WAINWRIGHT

A donation was made to the Red Cross for prisoner-of-war parcels. Preparations are being made to pack ditty bags and make quilts. Letters of appreciation for cigarettes and ditty bags were received from enlisted men.

FRIENDLY

Meeting for a social afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. B. Nicholson, members presented the retiring president, Mrs. Campbell, with a cup and saucer. Seven ditty bags will be packed.

ENILDA

An honor roll will be secured and hung in the W.I. hall and will bear the names of all who have enlisted from this district. A card party has been a recent event of interest, the lucky ticket being drawn on a woollen blanket. Much sewing is being done for the Red Cross. The letter of a local boy serving in Italy was read with interest.

Girl Guiding was the topic of a talk given by Miss Garrison when she spoke to the W.I. at the home of Mrs. Olson. The W.I. will sponsor the movement. A print dance and tie social will be a means of raising funds.

A paper prepared by Major Pilcher on veterinary diseases was read by Mrs. G. G. Davies. A concert and serving lunch at a sale have added substantially to the funds from which a donation was made to the Red Cross. Quilts are being made.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE

"Citizenship," was the subject for discussion at the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Schlerholtz. Members will co-operate with the Red Cross in securing blood donors. Appreciation was expressed to the Klinsmen for a donation to be sent to the Overseas League. Six leather jerkins have been made by Mrs. Nile and Mrs. Schlerholtz who hope to increase the number to twelve.

Arrangements are being made to hold a sale of work sometime in May. Two quilts have been completed and will be sold at that time. Cigarettes are being sent to local men overseas. A sum was also voted to Red Cross.

STROME

Much interest was created when Mrs. Storseth read an article centred around Martin Tew of Copper Creek, Arizona, a brother of one of the members of this W.I. telling how, with his horse he was able to rescue thirty-two flyers from a burning plane. Mrs. W. Huyck also told of recent legislation. Preparations are being made for an exhibit to be shown at the coming constituency conference.

GRIMSHAW

By means of a series of whist drives money is being raised for improvements at the local cemetery. Donations have also been made to the Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

HIGHWAY

The care of houseplants by Mrs. Fleming and an outline on agriculture by Mrs. Hoopfer formed an interesting program. A layette is being made for Red Cross and articles are being collected for making blankets. Music by Miss Tait and Miss Teen Soderburg completed the afternoon.

WIDE CANYON

A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mrs. B. Bradshaw when plans were made for the conference to be held in June.

PENHOLD W.I. GIRLS' CLUB

A successful tea sponsored by the girls will provide funds for quilts to be made for the Navy League and to pack ditty bags. Topic discussed at the meeting was "Products of Alberta." A letter of appreciation was read from a sailor who had received a ditty bag packed by the girls.

CALGARY W.I. GIRLS' CLUB

This club was organized last month with Miss Audrey Avis as secretary. No policies have as yet been formed but these will follow closely when the club has become fully organized.

ENILDA W.I. GIRLS' CLUB

Mothers will be entertained when the girls meet in the hall. All members have joined in arranging a contest for the occasion. A dance is planned for the end of the month.

ELNORA

Women's part in winning the war was the subject of a discussion led by Mrs. E. M. Duncan. Mrs. T. Campbell conducted a quiz contest. Miss Doris Cheek sang vocal solos when the W.I. held its regular meeting this month. Mrs. Logan who for a number of years has been the faithful secretary, has moved from the district.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Boston is fortunate in having two good bridge clubs. Between sessions of the New England open pair championship, which was held at the Boston Chess Club, several of us went over to visit the Cavendish Club, which is headed by E. N. Marcus. Eddie was the genial host, as usual, and during dinner he showed me today's interesting hand, which came up during the tournament.

The opening lead was won by declarer in his own hand. He then proceeded to develop the club suit in the only way to get four tricks in that suit if it broke badly. Dummy's king of clubs won the second trick, and on the lead of the queen, West discarded a low heart—perhaps not his best, but his choice was not too easy. Two more clubs were won in declarer's hand. West discarding the five of diamonds and deuce of spades.

South now led a low heart to dummy's jack. West went up with the queen and returned a spade. Dummy's king won the trick and hearts was led. East ducked, but South went up with the king, and when it held, led another heart, establishing another heart trick for himself. East now had nothing but diamonds and returned a low one, but declarer went up with the ace and fulfilled his contract.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

One is compelled to read between the lines of all letters. It is easy enough for a parent to elaborate on the problem but say nothing of the background which created it.

Mrs. G., from what you have told me of the child's fanatical devotion to the bottle, day or night, empty or full, one must surmise there is something very much amiss in the whole diet. It must be a meager one or the child would not be so dependent on this bottle and scream at its removal.

Why should any child of six months want a bottle beside it constantly? Only, in my estimation because the whole nourishment is faulty. You admit she cannot be interested in toys. A hungry baby couldn't. It may even be a getting food, but not enough of it. Her formula may be a weak one. She may lack vitamin D entirely.

You see, it is necessary to build up the background in imagination, otherwise one cannot attempt to deal with the problem as you stated it. Won't you write me more fully about your baby, its age, weight, feeding, sizing, vitamins, etc? Then I think I shall be able to see why she has this particular habit.

Mrs. Hoover: I feel that you, in your earnest endeavor to help the child, are manufacturing a real problem worse than the presence. Why shall you desire of building up a habit of going to the toilet every 20 minutes? That isn't control, that is lack of it, even if the child is never wet. What you want him to learn to do is to WAIT for attention, even if that comes only once every hour or two hours.

From what you have told me the child is very slow in all of his development. He is not ready to be dry, but if he needs more help in solidifying this habit, then make it a good habit while you are about it.

His father, justifiably, it seems, is trying to be both father and mother to him and undoubtedly pets and indulges him unwisely. Try to help him to see that he would do more for the child if he expected more of him instead of crystallizing his baby behavior.

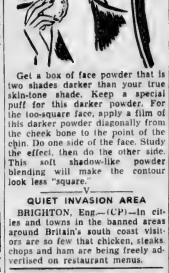
I think if you would devise a more convenient place for him to play than the toilet during play, he might be more co-operative about his habits.

The leaflet, "Renewing Good Toilet Habits," may show you how to make this behavior more habitual to the child. You may have it sending your request for it to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper, and enclosing a 4-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Debunker

Douglas More points out in his delightful book, "Listening to Music," that fact that most serious music is really not classical: that the term "classical," which is applied to all music not of the ballad type or dance tempo, is erroneous. Haydn and Mozart composed classical music which was standardized and fixed in form; while Schumann and Wagner did not compose classical music, but romantic music. Beethoven paved the way for the transition from the classical to the romantic music, and most composers after him were of the romantic age. Of late, the impressionistic and modernistic forms have appeared.

Minute Make-Ups



Get a box of face powder that is two shades darker than your true skin-tone shade. Keep a special puff for this darker powder. For the too-square face, apply a film of this darker powder diagonally from the cheek bone to the point of the chin. Do one side of the face. Study the effect, then do the other side. This soft shadowing-in powder blending will make the contour look less "square."

Canada Visitor Works in North

War has transplanted women. Women are overseas with the armed forces, they are in war plants, in men's businesses, and are nurses on the battlefronts.

The war has brought American sisters to Canada, some who have come because their husbands are stationed here. Some are skilled workers in our defence projects.

One American visitor is Mrs. Jean Mitchell, who came to Canada from Hollywood and went to Whitehorse to do a war job.

She has been for the last eight months, secretary to the chief electrical engineer at Whitehorse, Hamilton, Kansas City Bridge Company, C. H. Baldwin.

Mrs. Mitchell, who is in Edmonton on the way to San Diego, Calif., to visit her son, Bruce E. Mitchell, U. S. Marines, and his wife and small daughter, Susan, will return to Canada in a month's time to go to Fairbanks, Alaska.

Mrs. Mitchell has written a book of her experiences in the north and hopes to gather material for another book this winter.

4 Rookies for Uncle Sam

They're Slim, Wally, Blackie and Nipper

Come Highly Recommended

Posted

The United States Army recently secured four new "recruits" from away up around the Arctic circle and they were "enlisted" on the recommendation of a caterpillar tractor driver (cat skinner), who worked on the great Canol pipeline project. The four will soon be training hard in Montana.

The following letter, with "Arcticese" spelling predominating, was received recently by Brig.-Gen. A. D. Worsham, commanding general of the Northwest Service Command

"SOLD" BY LETTER

Mar 28, 1944.

Dear Sir:

I am writing this letter for four very illiterate fellows, but very good friends of mine. In fact their the best friends a man can have. They worked for Mr. B.C. the same as the rest of us and worked very hard last summer carrying heavey packs for the engineers.

Since then work in that line has sorta run out and they just go where ever I go. Their stamina and endurance is remarkable and they have never missed a shift with me.

They have followed me through forest fires, swamps and muskeg, across raceing rivers and ice choked creeks, over mountains and across the frozen tundras, for no other reason except for "just to be with me." They follow me many miles every day behind my motor patrol and once or twice a week they follow me 45 miles in one day.

ALL NICE BOYS

Their names are Slim, Wally, Blackie and Nipper. They are all nice boys and are in very good condition due to the miles of road work they get each day. Slim and Wally weigh 75 or 80 lbs, Blackie and Nipper about 50. Besides being good pack dogs they are also good sled dogs and slim is noted for being a powerful leader. They are all under four years of age and love to work. When we put a 40 lb. pack on them or hitch them to a sled, they are rapidacious with joy.

Slim is a big brown dog half airedale and half police and always the winner in fights. Wally was a pure powerful white dog of some Russian spiece and very sly. Blackie is coal black and like Nipper his nationality is questionable. They are hard to get acquainted with and seldom bark. They are all natural born sentrys. an example of which I am about to relate.

Often the end of the shift finds me making from camp and a pickup is sent out after me. A pick-up or truck is too fast for the dogs to follow so they just lay down around the Cat and that's where I find them when I come on shift in the morning. No one can approach that machine while I am gone. Many a truck driver has stopped at camp for coffee and asks "who's vicious dogs those are around that dozer. They would see the dogs and stop to pet them but the dogs wouldn't permit them to leave their truck. Several times I have had to go out with the greese monkies and mechanics to call off the dogs so they could service the machine.

SOON LEAVING COUNTRY

I will soon be leaveing this country. Have been up here twenty two months and have pioneered most of the road from Dawson to 208. B.P.C. has left and apparently forgotten or abandoned these four fine dogs, and as far as I know no one intends to do anything for them.

I would take them with me if I had a proper place to keep them in but am just a boomer myself. I would hait to see these four friends of mine fall into the hands of the natives as they would be miss treated.

Sir! I highly recommend these four fine dogs for military service in the K9 division of the U.S. Army. If you can do anything to get them enlisted or placed this letter in the hands of some one who can, I will appreciate it very much. Army trucks go through here every day and it would be a simple matter to get them out. My address is McDermotte Camp, c-o W. Elliott, Whitehorse. Thank you kindly.

Yours truly,
CAT SKINNER.

P.S.—The dogs' address is the same as mine.

Assistant to Noted Dancing Teacher Here

Then the more difficult art of imparting knowledge to others must be mastered.

"The toughest dance?

"I found the smart, smooth, sophisticated rumba the most difficult," Miss Lewis declared.

Mr. Murray himself is described by Miss Lewis as an advertising genius who knows when to advertise and the public's reaction to advertising and his judgment of people approaches the uncanny."

Any person who can walk can be taught to dance reasonably well, Mr. Murray states research shows that about one person in 50 000 is utterly without a sense of rhythm. Only such a person can never be taught to dance.

The chief difficulty in learning to dance is the lack of confidence and impatience of the pupil, not impatience on the part of the teacher, according to Mr. Murray. "They expect to step right out as finished dancers," Miss Lewis said

BENEFICIAL EXERCISE

Dancing is classed with swimming as a beneficial exercise and many pupils are sent to Arthur Murray schools by doctors. Dancing has worked wonders in many stubborn cases, particularly where there is great nervous tension.

Dancing develops co-ordination and the art of relaxation, essential to good health.

Scientists have lately found that dancing and automobile driving are both wonderful aides in the cure of certain types of nervous disorders, Miss Lewis said.

Quack dancing schools and dancing methods that guarantee perfect results in a few hours are the biggest handicap to good dancing schools, according to Miss Lewis.

The average person requires from 150 to 200 hours to learn to dance, Miss Lewis said, usually spent on the floor, Mr. Murray claims.

Soldiers and other members of the armed forces learn rapidly because their responses to commands are well developed.

GOOD WALTZERS

Canadians are all fine waltzers but are not so strong on many of the other modern dances, from what Miss Lewis has observed.

Young and old can be taught to dance although younger persons, particularly children, learn more quickly.

Miss Lewis has had pupils in their seventies.

A member of the Chinese legation and a Scandinavian prince were among pupils at Washington.

There have been senators and congressmen galore and high members of the military of all Allied nations including Canadians among, the Arthur Murray pupils in Washington, Miss Lewis said.

Have obtained gratifying results in the relief of infantile paralysis through dancing, Arthur Murray has recently established classes for wounded soldiers at the famed Walther Reed military hospital in Washington.

There are classes for men who have lost arms and legs, and who have suffered other serious disabilities.

"Learning to dance works wonders with these men," said Miss Lewis.

Miss Lewis who graduated from university with a B.A. degree and certificate of fine arts is returning to the U.S. early next month.

Mrs. P. R. Gaboury is Elected Head Catholic Women's League

The Edmonton sub-division of the Catholic Women's league elected Mrs. P. R. Gaboury president at its 32nd annual meeting at the Corona hotel Thursday. She succeeds Mrs. F. R. Munshaw.

Other officers elected include: Vice-presidents, Mrs. D. M. O'Brien, Miss H. O'Gorman, Mrs. J. H. Sayers; treasurer, Mrs. P. T. Ford; recording secretary, Mrs. A. A. O'Brien; and corresponding secretary, Miss B. Stuart.

Mrs. Gaboury has been a member of the board of directors of the Community Chest since its organization, and also has served on the executive of the Council of Social Agencies. She presented a resolution from the Council of Social Agencies, endorsing the establishment of a day nursery. This was carried unanimously.

War work convener Mrs. D. M. O'Brien reported that assistance was given to the Victory Loan drive and the stamp bar was staffed one day each month. A committee of women worked on the distribution of ration books. Forty-nine dilly bags were sent to the merchant marine and 542 knitted articles were received from members besides quantities of magazines and playing cards.

Furnishings were supplied to the chapel at No. 2 A.O.S. Members entertained service men at their homes, and continue to keep in touch with the men after they leave the city, particularly those who have gone overseas.

Mrs. Munshaw in her presidential address, said that membership this year stands at 691.

Mrs. Gaboury reported on the Good Shepherd institutional work, and the Community Chest drive. She paid tribute to the late Rev. Timothy Ryan through whose efforts, she said, the Community Chest was organized.

Reporting on the work of the Sisters of Service here, Mrs. Dearing said that the residential club of this order, was crowded to overflowing. Seventy-five patients were visited at the hospital, and sick care was given to many girls. Thirty-seven new books were added to the library.

The Rt. Rev. Monsignor W. B. Carleton and the Very Father R. V. Britton spoke briefly. Mrs. Irene Hawkes, western organizer for the national C.W.L., presented a vote of thanks to retiring officers. Mrs. G. Dearing presented small tokens of appreciation to Mrs. Munshaw, Mrs. A. M. Allen, Mrs. C. D. Kelly and Miss Bessie Stuart.

Greetings were extended from the national council of the C.W.L. by Mrs. Hawkes, and from the diocesan Council by Mrs. F. J. Conroy.

Principal speaker at the banquet which preceded the meeting was Walter McLaren, who spoke on rehabilitation of servicemen.

Nurses Here To Graduate

A long time ago, during the Crimean War the first "Angel of Mercy" appeared when Florence Nightingale, first woman to take up nursing as a career, commenced her profession.

Nurses always were important but in these days of strife and battle, nurses serve both on the home and fighting front. Each constitutes another soldier, one who has been especially trained for a definite phase of important work both in peace time and the war world.

In Edmonton next week nurses of three hospitals will be graduated. Some of these young women will stay at home to minister to civilians and some will go directly to the battle fronts. In any event all have dedicated themselves to serve wherever there is a need.

Tuesday at 8:30 p.m., the graduation exercises of the General Hospital School of Nursing will be held in Convocation Hall, University of Alberta. The Sisters of Charity have issued invitations to guests to attend.

The Edmonton Hospital Board, and the officers of the School of Nursing of the Royal Alexandra hospital have sent out invitations for the graduation exercises of the class of 1944 to be held in the First Presbyterian church Wdeneaday at 8:15 p.m. A reception and dance will be held, following the exercises.

Group Studies Baha'i Faith

Mrs. Adam Davies was hostess at a fireside supper party this week at her home on the South Side when her guests were a group of women interested in the principles of the Baha'i faith.

The group included: Mrs. Gordon Winkler, Mrs. R. C. Sproule, Mrs. Roland McGee, Mrs. E. J. Rimell, Mrs. L. Roche, Mrs. Richard Jenkin, Miss Ida Charlesworth, Miss Ada Young, Miss Anita Ioas and Miss Marihada Garrod.

Miss Ioas and Mrs. McGee will go to Chicago in May when the Baha'is of the western hemisphere will meet there, the site of the only Baha'i house of worship in the west, to celebrate the centennial anniversary of the birth of the Baha'i faith. Delegates will be present from all the states of the United States, all the provinces of Canada, and all the Central and South American Republics. At a conservative estimate, there will be 1,500 at this centennial celebration.

Daughters' League Convention Planned For Next Week

Canadian Daughters' League, Alberta Provincial Council convention, will be held April 26 and 27 in the I.O.O.F. hall on 103 street. Mrs. Morley Ward, provincial president, will preside.

Mrs. William Barrington Jr., past national president, will represent the national president.

And WE Talk about Sacrifice

Ask a Mother the meaning of sacrifice . . . ask the ghosts of the boys at Dieppe. Ask them, too, what they would give to trade places with us! We talk of sacrifice who have yet to suffer loss; we prate of privation and carp of discomfort in a world of warmth and light, ease and plenty! All we're asked to do is BUY, not GIVE; INVEST, not DONATE! Our sacrifice is a selfish one, so let's do it gratefully, humbly; let's buy EXTRA bonds . . . for if our boys can afford to die, we can afford to buy.

6th. VICTORY LOAN for $1,200,000,000 OPENS MONDAY

YOUR Victory Loan salesman will be calling on you on Monday, or during the next three weeks. Open your door wide and ask him in. He will show you how you can play your part in reaching the 6th Victory Loan objective of $1,200,000,000.

For every Canadian, the Sixth Victory Loan presents both a need and an opportunity. The need is that of our fighting men for a continuous flow of supplies of all kinds. The opportunity is for you to stand alongside your fighting men and to share as best you can the weight of conflict.

Our fighting men are storming the beaches—battering their way step by step to the citadels of our enemies. When our armies are on the attack, they use up ammunition, machines, clothing, great quantities of foodstuffs and every type of equipment at a terrific rate. These things must be replaced and a great reserve maintained to keep the attack moving and to ensure victory.

War supplies can only be maintained with the whole-hearted support of every Canadian. By putting victory first—by getting along with less to save more—by buying Victory Bonds, you help to see that our soldiers, sailors and airmen never have to do without—never have to worry about where the next round of ammunition or the next day's rations are coming from.

When you purchase Victory Bonds, you supply the means to help shorten the war and bring our Canadian men and women home sooner.

Welcome your Victory Loan salesman. Greet him cordially. Give him every co-operation. Be ready for him and help conserve his time. Buy all the Bonds you can for cash and on the monthly savings plan. Be proud to wear the new symbol, the "winged VI" on your lapel. Be eager to play your part and do your share to bring victory sooner.

EDMONTON LIVESTOCK

Weekly report from the Edmonton stockyards for the week ending April 21, 1944:

Receipts:	Cattle	Calves	Hogs	Sheep
Today	142	16	345	...
Week	958	176	2053	200

Trading on the cattle market was decidedly slow the forepart of the week, due to a congestion of hogs at the packing plants and shortage of labor. At the close, however, under very light runs trading was brisk, and salesmen made a good clean-up of all offerings. Prices were down 25c per cwt. on good to choice steers at the opening, but this loss was recovered, and at the close some choice steers were topping $11¾ per cwt. The bulk of good to choice traded from $11 to $11½. Good to choice heifers were mostly from $10 to $10½, with an odd one realizing $11 per cwt. Cows were steady throughout. Good lights $8 to $8½, and good heavies $7½ to $8. Bulls sold from $5 to $7½.

The following are the quotations:

CATTLE—
Good-choice fed calves	$11.00 to 11.50
Good-choice h'y steers	10.75 to 11.50
Fair-medium steers	9.50 to 10.50
Common to fair steers	7.00 to 9.50
Good-choice heifers	10.00 to 11.00
Fair-medium heifers	8.25 to 9.50
Common-fair heifers	6.50 to 8.25
Good-choice light cows	8.00 to 8.50
Good-choice heavy cows	7.50 to 8.00
Fair-medium cows	6.00 to 7.00
Common to fair cows	4.50 to 6.00
Canners and cutters	3.50 to 4.50
Bulls	5.00 to 7.50

Stockers and feeders were also under limited demand. A few choice feeders topped at $10, with the bulk of the better class steers $9.50 down, and heifers $8 and stock cows $6 down.

Veal calves steady with the previous week's decline. Good to choice handy weights $11½ to $12½, with extreme tops at $13. Heavy and common kinds traded from $11 down to a low of $7.

Hogs were steady.

The new basis of settlement came into effect Monday, April 10, and the price quotations on the basis of actual value per cwt. for each grade were enforced. The prices for each grade were as follows, and remained steady throughout the week. A's, $16.35; B1, $15.95; B2, $15.70; B3, $15.70; C's, $14.70; D's, $14.45; lights, $14.45; heavies, $14.45; extra heavies (196-215 lbs), $13.45; extra heavies (216 lbs. and up), $11.25; sows and ridglings, dressed, $11.25; saws, live weight $8.50 per cwt.; feeders according to weight and quality, $12 to $14 per cwt.

Note: Receipts continue very heavy and farmers are advised to contact their selling agency or plant buyer before shipping.

Lambs steady, good to choice locals, $11 to $11.50; tops, off cars, $11.75; yearlings, $8 down, and ewes $5 down.

AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, April 22—(AP)—Hogs, 9,500. Good and choice 200270 lb. hogs $13¾, 280-330 lbs. $12¾-$13.10, few sows $12¼-35, good and choice 200-270 lbs. steady.

Cattle 100, no calves. Strictly choice 1,085 lb. heifers $16.60, cutters $8½ down, good cows $13¾, little over $13, heavy fat bulls $13¾, valears generally steady, stockers $11½-$13½.

Sheep, 1,500. Good and choioce fed wooled western lambs 109 lbs. down $16.15-$16½, load lots largely good lambs $16-$16.15.

Vichy Claim

LONDON, April 22.—(AP)—The German - controlled Vichy radio said yesterday that a detachment of Soviet troops had arrived in southern Italy to fight against Italian Fascist forces.

Dominion Meet Is Discussed by City Realtors

At a meeting of the Edmonton Real Estate Association held Wednesday noon, Boyce Greene and Stuart Darroch, just returned from the Dominion convention held at Niagara Falls, submitted a report on the activities of the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards.

Post-war problems were discussed at great length. It was felt that private building should be encouraged to the utmost in the erection of new homes and conversion of larger old homes, that there was a percentage of our people, possibly 25 per cent, who could not afford to purchase a home, or whose occupation was so variable as to season or location of work as to make it undesirable; also that private enterprise could not be expected to provide housing accommodation for rental at very low figures.

DEVELOP PLAN

Therefore, it was the opinion that some plan must be developed, such as the creation of limited dividend housing companies, in provision of funds at low rates of interest.

Considerable time was spent in discussing the Veterans' Land Act which has to do with the settlement of returned men after the war. The objection raised by the association was that the government is eliminating the established real estate broker when no other body can be of greater assistance to any land settlement scheme, and strong protests are being sent to Ottawa.

Liquor Mystery

SYRACUSE, N.Y., April 22—(AP)—Both police and Pasquale Aloi are puzzled over the identity of the person who has left three or four bottles of liquor every recent Saturday at the Aloi home. When Mrs. Aloi started refusing the liquor, the mysterious donor began leaving it on the front porch, ringing the bell and fleeing. Aloi says he's leaving the bottles unopened.

Back From East

Boyce Greene, Edmonton real estate agent, who has just returned from an eastern convention of the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards. He told of his impressions of the meeting at a meeting of the Edmonton Real Estate Association this week.

Chicago Oats Trade Active

CHICAGO, April 22—(AP)—More rain over wide areas of the midwest brought buying into the oats pit during the early trading today but some of the upturn was lost later when dispatches to a grain firm from Canada said the Commodity Credit Corporation had purchased about 2,225,000 bushels of Canadian oats this week.

Other grains were fairly steady but did not attract much trading interest. Some buying of uly wheat came from houses with commercial connections.

Prices For Cattle Decline in West

OTTAWA, April 22.—(CP)—Cattle prices declined in the west this week while other Canadian livestock markets held steady, the agricultural department reported yesterday in its weekly livestock review.

Prices were steady to strong at Montreal, good steers moving out at $12 to $12.65, and good cows a general $9 to $9.50.

At Winnipeg better grades of slaughter steers sold at $11 to $11.50, and large number of steers went to killers at $10 to $10.75. Feeder cattle held generally firm, better grades at $9.25 to $10.

Calgary topped at $11.65, but most sales of better steers were from $11.50 down. Edmonton closed active at a decline of 25 cents on good steers which were $10.75 to $11.25, and $11.50. Prince Albert had good steers at $10.50 to $10.75, Moose Jaw up to $11, Regina $11.25, Saskatoon $10.50 to $10.75, and Vancouver $12.00.

Traders were cautious in view of pre-invasion talk.

At the close wheat was unchanged to ⅜ lower. Oats were unchanged to ⅛ higher. Rye was ½ lower to ⅛ higher. There was no trading in barley.

Wheat—May 1.73⅝; July 1.69⅛; Sept. 1.65⅝-½; Dec. 1.65¼.

Oats—May 82; July 79¼; Sept. 74⅞-75; Dec. 74⅛.

Barley—May 1.28; July 1.25¾; Sept. 1.19⅛.

No wheat, corn, oats.

Barley malting 1.25-1.41½ nominal; feed 1.15-1.22½ nominal.

"Time"

"TIME and tide wait for no man!" One of the greatest factors in our lives is TIME . . . between the cradle and the grave TIME is the essence. We are fed, as infants, on time — we arise in the morning on time — we go to school and to work on TIME . . . there is TIME for everything.

This is the TIME to buy LAND. TIME to do so while you are working and earning good wages and good salaries. If the time should come when you are out of a job and you have no home and no garden and no money—then—it's too late.

Buy a small piece of Land now . . . a piece of "THE GOOD EARTH" . . . Now while the price is low and while you can afford to do so. You can build later with bonds and grow things if you wish.

The TIME may come when a little farm in a prosperous, thriving community may be the very kind of possession that will dispel the financial blues — it may bring HEALTH and HAPPINESS and COMFORTABLE LIVING to you in a world suffering from the effects of war.

Use the TIME you now have to select one of these BUYS. Do it this very day and you may be using THAT TIME to the best advantage of your life.

First of School Festivals Said Marked Success

Planned and arranged by the Edmonton Public School Festival association, the first in a series of school festivals held Thursday and Friday at Garneau and King Edward schools proved highly successful from all angles.

Pupils enjoyed friendly fellowship with pupils from neighboring schools, well over a thousand pupils took active part in the demonstrations of gymnastics, music, art, dancing and were given a chance for group expression in a strictly non-competitive atmosphere.

FIRST TIME TRIED

This new type of festival has never before been attempted in Edmonton schools and teachers and pupils alike are highly enthusiastic over the results. Superintendent of schools, R. S. Sheppard, reported that he was "delighted with the excellent results of the festival. The children behaved admirably and really entered into the spirit of the experiment and obviously enjoyed themselves," he said.

The displays given at the festival were representative of the work carried on daily in the schools. No special training was given the children for the festival. The quality of their performances and the co-operative, friendly relations which prevailed throughout the sessions offer considerable encouragement to the sponsors of the new venture.

At Garneau school Thursday, elementary pupils gave demonstration of folk-dancing and physical education. Similar work by more advanced nature was shown in the afternoon by intermediate pupils.

Elementary school music and choral speech were held Friday morning at King Edward, and musical and dramatic entries were staged in Garneau auditorium in the afternoon. Lower corridors of Garneau school were hung with samples of art work done by pupils. This exhibit received much favorable attention.

Home Defence Troops Urged To Go Active

VERNON, B.C., April 22—(CP)—Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., general officer commanding in chief Pacific command, in an address to a group of soldiers at Vernon training camp yesterday said "cease wavering, play the man's part and join the active army of Canada."

Gen. Pearkes said in an interview later "I tried principally to appeal to their pride in Canada and to the fact that the outcome of the second front might rest upon the number of home defence men who are ready to back up the troops already overseas."

"NOT SATISFACTORY"

Brig. William H. S. Macklin, camp commandant, in an interview said the response to appeals to men to go active have "not been satisfactory."

In an interview, David Howrie, mayor of Vernon, and president of the Vernon Canadian Legion branch, described as "prostitution of the Victoria Cross," the recent recruiting trip made by Maj. Paul Triquet, V.C.

"The humiliating duty imposed on a good soldier like Maj. Triquet as evidenced by his recent recruiting tour is in very poor taste," Howrie said. He added the Vernon branch has sent a protest to provincial legion headquarters. Maj. Triquet in a recent address at the camp urged French Canadians to transfer from home defence category to active.

Many home defence men who went to Kiska, including French Canadians, are at Vernon.

OTTAWA, April 22—(CP)—Defence Minister Ralston said last night he wanted time to "think about it overnight" before making any comment upon an address delivered at Vernon, B.C., yesterday by Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., general officer command-in-chief, Pacific command.

ST. JOSEPH'S
By Henry Yamauchi

St. Mary's and St. Joseph's high schools' Easter dance, appropriately named "The Bunny Hop" went off with a "bang"! When a real crowd and a snappy orchestra get together a hilarious evening is bound to follow—which is exactly what did happen April 14.

The hall was colorfully decorated —thanks to the art class of St. Mary's, directed by Miss Shiela Killoran. The "living energetics" after an hour and a half of solid swing, were refreshed with cold drinks and doughnuts. After the feet were rested and the shoe-laces tightened, the second part of the dance swung underway with shuffle of feet and shouts of youthful merriment.

Special thanks ar extended to the patrons, Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. E. F. Lovett and Mrs. William Philion.

At the annual schoolboys' boxing and wrestling tourney, Grant DeFraine of this school decisioned Billy Greene while Edmund Bougie and Ted Costello lost the fights to Alex Romaniuk and Adam Odynsky, respectively.

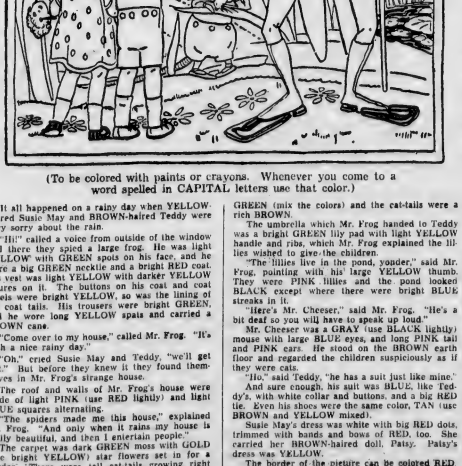
ALL ON A RAINY DAY



(To be colored with paints or crayons. Whenever you come to a word spelled in CAPITAL letters use that color.)

It all happened on a rainy day when YELLOW-haired Susie May and BROWN-haired Teddy were very sorry about the rain.

"Hi!" called a voice from outside of the window and there they spied a large frog. He was light YELLOW with GREEN spots on his face, and he wore a big GREEN necktie and a bright RED coat. His vest was light YELLOW with darker YELLOW figures on it. The buttons on his coat and coat lapels were bright YELLOW, so was the lining of his coat tails. His trousers were bright GREEN, and he wore long YELLOW spats and carried a BROWN cane.

"Come over to my house," called Mr. Frog. "It's such a nice rainy day."

"Oh," cried Susie May and Teddy, "we'll get wet!" But before they knew it they found themselves in Mr. Frog's strange house.

The roof and walls of Mr. Frog's house were made of light PINK (use RED lightly) and light BLUE squares alternating.

"The spiders made me this house," explained Mr. Frog. "And only when it rains my house is really beautiful, and then I entertain people."

The carpet was dark GREEN moss with GOLD (use bright YELLOW) star flowers set in for a border. There were tall cat-tails growing right inside the house, too. Their leaves were YELLOW-GREEN (mix the colors) and the cat-tails were a rich BROWN.

The umbrella which Mr. Frog handed to Teddy was a bright GREEN lily pad with light YELLOW handle and rim, which Mr. Frog explained the lilies wished to give the children.

"The lillies live in the pond, yonder," said Mr. Frog, pointing with his large YELLOW thumb. They were PINK lillies and the pond looked BLACK except where there were bright BLUE streaks in it.

"Here's Mr. Cheeser," said Mr. Frog. "He's a bit deaf so you will have to speak up loud."

Mr. Cheeser was a GRAY (use BLACK lightly) mouse with large BLUE eyes, and long PINK tail and PINK ears. He stood on the BROWN earth floor and regarded the children suspiciously as if they were rats.

"Ho," said Teddy, "he has a suit just like mine."

Susie May's dress was white with big RED dots, trimmed with bands and bows of RED, too. She carried her BROWN-haired doll, Patsy. Patsy's dress was YELLOW.
